

Oregon Fights New Floods; Score Dead, Loss 37 Million

Travel Safe In Michigan For Holiday

By the Associated Press

Michigan marked off one of its safest Memorial day holidays in years with only 11 persons dead in the heavy weekend traffic.

Last year 19 persons were killed on highways during a similar period.

Eight others in the state met violent death during the weekend. Three were killed in a plane crash, and five died in miscellaneous accidents.

Across the nation there were 372 violent weekend deaths reported, 205 of them in traffic mishaps.

The state honored its dead war heroes with special parades and ceremonies in countless communities.

In Detroit a crowd of more than 85,000 thronged Woodward avenue to watch the annual Memorial Day parade.

Accidents Kill 400 Over Memorial Day

Traffic Mishaps Cause Half Of Penalties

(By The Associated Press)

More than 400 persons died violently during the nation's extended Memorial Day holiday.

Traffic accidents caused more than half of the fatalities.

Accident deaths reported from 6 p. m. Friday to midnight Monday totaled 404. The drowning of 22 Navy and Marine Corps men lost when a launch capsized in Hampton Roads, Va., was the largest known loss of life in a single accident.

The toll compared to 504 violent deaths over the three-day 1947 Memorial Day holiday and to 292 over a similar period in 1946. Last year's big total was boosted considerably because of two serious airline crashes in which 95 persons were killed and tornadoes in Arkansas and Oklahoma which took the lives of 43.

An estimated 30,000,000 automobiles were on the country's highways over the three-day holiday period and more than 200 persons were killed in traffic mishaps. Of the 372 violent deaths, 203 died in motor accidents; 70 persons drowned, and 105 others lost their lives in accidents of miscellaneous nature—including plane crashes, fires, falls and other causes.

Two Million Cubans Vote For President

Hot Campaign Staged By Four Candidates

BY BEN F. MEYER

Havana, Cuba, June 1. (AP)—Cuba elects a new president today and a hot campaign by the four candidates brought predictions of a heavy vote.

With 2,506,754 Cubans eligible, a vote in the neighborhood of 2,000,000 is expected.

In all, 572 men and women are running for 132 offices—54 seats in the Senate, 70 seats (half the membership) in the House of Representatives, six provincial governorships and the presidency and vice presidency. The four men seeking the presidential chair range in political leanings from the right to the far left.

The polls are open from 8 a. m. to 6 p. m. (EST) today and although presidential returns will be counted first, the official results may not be known before Thursday, unless there is a runaway.

The campaign has been so heated that the government issued a last-minute appeal to citizens for "calmness, patriotism and common sense" to keep the peace. The army was put on 24-hour duty to guard the polls and the sale of liquor was banned for the day.

The stormy drive for votes continued right up to the end. Trucks, cars, motor launches at sea, and even airplanes were used to advertise the candidates.

The issues are national, centering around present and past administrations.

Leathernecks Take Over Kansas City

Kansas City, June 1. (AP)—Fourth Division Marines of World War II are about to make another beachhead—this time to reminisce.

Some 500 of them are going to hit Kansas City Friday and Saturday for a reunion, the first ever held by a Marine division.

It's strictly going to be a Marine show. Robert K. Ryland, convention chairman for the Fourth Marine Division association, made it clear today the Leathernecks were going to shy clear of politics and political speechmaking.

The only scheduled talk is by the Marines' head man, General Clifton B. Cates. He commanded the Fourth at Tinian and Iwo Jima.

RACER KILLED

Wapakoneta, O., June 1. (AP)—William Heyboer, 35, of Route 5, Grand Rapids, Mich., was injured fatally in a pileup during a motorcycle race on the half-mile track here late yesterday.

PLANE CRACKUP—The pilot and two passengers escaped serious injury when this three-place Piper Cub Super Cruiser cracked up at the south end of the north-south runway at the Escanaba airport at 8:15 Sunday night. Engine failure at takeoff was blamed by Pilot Russell Mallette, 30, of Centerline, Mich., as the cause of the accident. His passengers were Curt Bostrum, 20, and Carl Franzen, 60, both of Escanaba. The latter is Mallette's father-in-law. From a height of about 75 feet, the plane nosed in the turf as pictured above. The three men suffered several face lacerations and other bruises and injuries, none of which were believed to be serious. Mallette required only first aid treatment. Bostrum, who suffered a back injury, is still at St. Francis hospital, and Franzen was dismissed yesterday.

Cease-Fire Offer Accepted By Jews

(By The Associated Press)

Jewish bombs dropped today on Amman, where Arab leaders assembled to talk over the latest United Nations peace plan.

Within hours, Israel accepted unconditionally the U. N. appeal for a four-week armistice during which an arms embargo would be enforced on Arabs and Jews alike.

The British said the Jewish warplanes attacking Amman also bombed an RAF field nearby and that 12 persons were killed and 30 injured.

Republicans Draft Security Program

Expansion Of Old Age Benefits Proposed

Washington, June 1. (AP)—Republicans made ready today to unveil their own social security program. It is expected to fall something short of President Truman's call for higher old age benefits and the addition of 20,000,000 people to the social security rolls.

Republicans cried "election year politics" when Mr. Truman sent his proposals to Congress last week.

The Republican bill has been prepared by a House Ways and Means subcommittee headed by Rep. Reed (R-N.Y.). It will be presented to the full committee today or tomorrow.

While details have not been made public, the subcommittee bill is not expected to propose any broad increase in old age benefits or any immediate increase in social security taxes.

However, it may open the way for about 2,500,000 more people to take part in the program.

The increased participation, it is understood, would be principally through a provision that employees of state and local government agencies could come into the program, if the local governments gave their approval.

Mr. Truman asked that the old-age and survivors insurance be broadened to cover self-employed farm workers, domestic workers and other groups that were excluded from the original law because of difficulties in collecting security taxes from them. He said experience now has proved that this tax problem can be licked.

Prairie-Like Fire Sweeps Stockyards At South St. Paul

South St. Paul, Minn., June 1. (AP)—Loss today was estimated at more than $600,000 in the prairie-like fire which razed a fifth of the stockyards area here Memorial Day.

Three firemen were overcome by smoke as flames engulfed the under-dry sheds, corrals and stock chutes. Handlers freed 2,000 cattle into swampland along the Mississippi river but 50 head perished in the fast-moving wall of fire. None of the firemen was seriously hurt. A column of smoke visible 15 miles away arose from the blaze. It was brought under control after two hours.

The nearby Swift and Armour packing plants were undamaged. Cause of the fire was not determined.

Revised Draft Bill Ready For House

Washington, June 1. (AP)—The House Armed Services Committee approved unanimously today a draft bill revision which would give the president sole responsibility for starting a draft of men for the armed forces.

The provision, similar to one in early versions of the House bill, would hold off draft operations for at least 75 days after passage of the law. Drafting then would start only when the president decided the armed forces could not obtain necessary manpower through voluntary enlistments.

More Ore Trackage Wanted By L. S. & I.

Washington, June 1. (AP)—The Lake Superior and Ishpeming railroad company today asked ICC authority to build 14.3 miles of new track in Marquette county, Mich.

The line would run from a point west of Ishpeming depot to a point near the village of Republic, and is intended to serve iron ore mines being developed in the area.

River City Of 18,000 Wiped Out

Washington, June 1. (AP)—President Truman today ordered "full resources of the federal government" mobilized for aid in the Pacific Northwest flood disaster.

He directed the army, the interior department and housing officials to investigate and make recommendations for "additional legislative authority to meet emergencies of this character."

The president wrote Maj. General Philip B. Fleming, federal works administrator, directing him to coordinate all federal agencies working on the disaster.

Portland, Ore., June 1. (AP)—The Columbia River flood, which already had taken a toll of at least 20 lives and property loss of more than $37,000,000, forced mass evacuation today of a 120-mile section at the lower end of the stream.

The river had already caused the northwest's greatest disaster as its crest approached the rich farmlands from Portland area to the sea. Army engineers gave the warning to evacuate, but said many of the thousands of residents already had fled.

Crest Nears Portland

The toll of dead will not be known until waters recede. No estimate of damage throughout the area was available, but the Portland housing authority said damage at the crumbled warhousing city of Vanport was $27,000,000. The only other estimate was $10,000,000 damage in the Kelso, Woodland and Kalama districts of southwest Washington. Those were only two small areas affected.

Before the Vanport disaster, army engineers had predicted the Columbia and its tributaries would cause a total loss of $30,000,000. The engineers now won't make any kind of an estimate.

The river, second largest in the nation in amount of water discharged, is at flood stage for 750 miles. The crest will reach the Portland area tonight or tomorrow.

Bid To MacArthur Will Not Be Pushed

Georgia Democrats Line Up Against Truman

Washington, June 1. (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur's not-now-please response to a homecoming invitation goes before the Senate appropriations committee today with little indication that the matter will be pressed.

Chairman Bridges (R-N. H.), to whom the Far Eastern commander addressed his reply to the committee invitation last week, said he expected no outright demand for the general's return.

"If anything should happen while he was away," Bridges said, "I certainly wouldn't want the responsibility of having him back here."

On the other side of the political fence, Georgia's 28 votes to the Democratic national convention lined up solidly against President Truman.

The state executive committee yesterday instructed the delegation to vote as a bloc, with no dissenters. While the anti-Truman stand was not put into a formal pledge, party leaders left no doubt that the state's votes will be cast for someone other than the president.

Mundi-Nixon Bill Hearing Cut Short

Robeson Refuses To Say He Is Communist

Washington, June 1. (AP)—Belligerent opponents of the Mundi-Nixon anti-Communist bill threatened today to lead a protest demonstration at the Capitol Wednesday.

Len Goldsmith of New York, executive secretary of the committee for Democratic rights, said "thousands of people" will be on hand to demand a hearing before the Senate Judiciary committee.

There were angry shouts from the audience when the committee closed public hearings yesterday on the House-passed bill to force registration of Communists. A group of about 30 men and women were waiting to testify.

But Senator Wiley (R-Wis.), committee chairman, already had left the committee room. Acting chairman Ferguson (R-Mich.) said he had no authority to continue the hearings.

Wiley's committee will meet Thursday, it was learned, to decide what to do about two witnesses who refused to say whether they are Communists.

Singer Paul Robeson and Joseph Kehoe, New York union leader, declined to answer when Ferguson asked them if they are members of the Communist party.

Bernadotte Confers With Arab Leaders

Haifa, Israel, June 1. (AP)—Count Folke Bernadotte, United Nations Palestine truce mediator, left Haifa for Amman today to confer with Arab leaders.

A member of his party said the Arabs wanted him to put off his visit until Arab leaders at Amman reach a decision on the U. N. appeal for a cease fire order in Palestine. The Count decided to go to Amman immediately, the informant said.

Bernadotte expects to return to Palestine in a few days for further talks with Israeli officials.

Democracy Killed In Czech Election

Prague, June 1. (AP)—The Czechoslovak government, which got itself reelected by an 89.2 percent majority Sunday, unanimously hailed the vote today as popular approval of its February maneuvers and actions since then.

Cabinet ministers issued a series of statements insisting that the people now have spoken in favor of the February revolt in which the Communists took control of the government. This was a development which even ordinary observers predicted weeks before the election, when the handicapped single government ticket was announced.

Nearly 11 per cent of the voters were recorded as casting blank ballots despite a lack of secrecy surrounding the actions of voters. They cast their ballots and threw away the tell-tale discard in watched waste baskets.

But after all the campaign threats against potential white ballot voters as traitors, the press today gave them only fleeting attention.

Some Czech political observers speculated whether President Benes will go along with Premier Klement Gottwald's government now, or resign.

Naval Liberty Launch Sinks; 22 Men Perish

Norfolk, Va., June 1. (AP)—Twenty-two men—nine marines and 13 navy men—perished in the Hampton Roads last night when a navy launch swamped in choppy waters while returning 90 men to their ship after Memorial Day liberty.

Rear Admiral C. A. F. Sprague, commander of a twelve ship task force whose sailing for the Mediterranean was delayed by the tragedy, issued this statement to newsmen at 9 a. m. today from his flag ship, the aircraft carrier Kearsarge:

"Preliminary report of loss of life or missing personnel may be placed at 22, nine marines and 13 navy."

"Report considered accurate and includes best estimate of possible stragglers" (men absent over leave).

"Further checking now in progress."

The 50-foot open launch was swamped in a wind and rain storm at 8:45 p. m. as it was returning a liberty party to the Kearsarge, anchored two miles off the Norfolk Naval station. The launch, which was attached to the carrier, was swamped when only 200 yards off the Kearsarge's port beam.

At 2 a. m. today all naval tugs and small craft that had been searching the area were withdrawn, leaving two Coast Guard ships to continue the search.

The launch was a 50 foot open vessel.

Sprague, replying to newsmen's requests for permission to board the Kearsarge to interview survivors, said he did not know whether it would be possible.

Sailing of the task force was delayed indefinitely after the accident and its ships were placed on four hour sailing notice.

A special muster of the Kearsarge's complement was still in progress at 7:30 a. m. Even such a muster will be inconclusive, however, as a number of men normally are absent over leave when naval ships sail for extensive duty in foreign waters.

The Kearsarge, with three cruisers, seven destroyers and a transport, was scheduled to sail at 5 a. m. today for the Mediterranean to relieve a similar force which has been on duty in that area since last winter.

A motor launch returning a liberty party from Hyeres, France, to the carrier Midway on February 16 was swamped. In this accident an officer, a marine and six seamen were lost; 53 survived.

Big Spending Spree In House This Week

Money Bills To Carry Around 20 Billion

Washington, June 1. (AP)—The House headed today into what appears likely to be the biggest peacetime appropriation week in its history.

Led off by a relatively small measure for the treasury and post-office departments, four money bills carrying between $15,000,000,000 and $20,000,000,000 were lined up by the appropriations committee for House action by Saturday night.

They will finance the Army, Navy, Air Force, foreign aid program, Coast Guard, postoffice department and tax refunds to be paid during the year starting on July 1.

Backing them up are an estimated 5,000 printed pages of testimony taken by the committee behind closed doors during recent months.

The committee's timetable for sending the bills to the House: Treasury—postoffice (including Coast Guard and tax refunds), Tuesday.

Army and Air Force, Wednesday.

Navy, Thursday or Friday.

Foreign aid, Friday or Saturday.

Appropriations committee veterans said that never before except in wartime has such a heavy flood of money bills been readied for action in a single week.

Chinese Girl, 20, Lives Without Food

Chungking, China, June 1. (AP)—Yang Mei, China's medical puzzle—a girl who says she never eats—went happily home today after what doctors swear was a three week fast. She didn't look hungry, either.

With Yang Mei went two nurses. They will continue a constant observation of the 20-year-old peasant girl who insists she hasn't eaten for nine years.

Doctors in municipal hospital, where she had been under day night observation 21 days, say they are certain she had no food in that period.

She shows no ill effects.

Disabled Jap Boat Drifts For Month With 19 Fishermen

Kobe, Japan, June 1. (AP)—A Japanese fishing vessel, the Taiyo Maru, has been drifting helplessly with 19 men aboard in mid-Pacific for nearly a month, the U. S. Navy reported today.

The destroyer John T. Kreg was expected to reach the 64 ton craft tomorrow.

The Taiyo Maru, the Navy said, broke down between Guam and Okinawa May 5. It was discovered two days ago by an army patrol plane about 200 miles south of Iloilo. The plane dropped food to the helpless crewmen yesterday.

Car Thief Nabbed By Police Bandmen

New York, June 1. (AP)—A bugler and a drummer in a police department band did double duty yesterday.

Informed that a man in the audience at a Central Park band concert was wanted for car theft, the two musicians stepped out of ranks and arrested him.

Lowly Spud Again Brings Head Aches

BY OVID A. MARTIN

Washington, June 1. (AP)—The lowly spud threatens once again to cause food officials, farm leaders and possibly politicians many headaches during the next four months.

Potato supplies are expected by agriculture department officials to start flowing to market within a few days in a volume far above consumer needs.

If this is so, the department will be forced for the third straight year to buy the surplus to carry out grower price guarantees.

The cost to Uncle Sam in the past two years exceeded $125,000,000.

The department formally predicts that it will have to buy from 300 to 500 carloads of potatoes a day this month, or a total of at least 25,000,000 bushels by the end of July. Most of the surplus is expected in California, North Carolina and Virginia.

The market glut may reach its peak about the time Congress is due to take up bills continuing farm price supports.

Present price guarantee laws, fixing minimums at not less than 90 per cent of parity, expire December 31.

(Parity is a standard for measuring market prices intended to be equally fair to farmers and users of farm products.)

Acre Yields Increase

Farm leaders fear that a serious potato surplus would attract so much public attention to the support program that Congress might vote lower guarantees than the 60 to 90 per cent of parity favored by most farm spokesmen.

The potato situation could easily become an issue in the coming campaign. The cost of living is a sore spot with many voters.

The support program this year will have to hold prices above last year's levels. That's because the parity price is higher—since farm costs have risen too.

Some of the potatoes bought by the government will be diverted into livestock, feed, alcohol, and other by-products. But because of a shortage of processing facilities, officials said some of the spuds may have to be dumped.

Potatoes moving to market this spring and summer contain a high percentage of moisture and are thus very perishable.

The government has been trying to get farmers to produce fewer potatoes. Farmers actually have cut down on potato acreages, but the use of more fertilizers, better seed stock, and improved insecticides have increased yields per acre.

G. Mennen Williams Runs For Governor, Scoffs At Sigler

Detroit, June 1. (AP)—G. Mennen Williams made it official today that he will seek the Democratic nomination for governor of Michigan.

The 37-year-old Detroit attorney had been considered a candidate since he resigned recently from the liquor control commission.

"I haven't any airplane, I don't have a vest to put piping on, and a prince won't fit my nose," he told reporters in an obvious reference to Gov. Kim Sigler, "but I think I could get along with the state legislature and accomplish a program."

He said his campaign, which will open June 7 in Ypsilanti, will stress housing, labor legislation, highway improvement, public care of the sick and needy and school improvements.

The only other Democratic candidate thus far is Victor E. Bucknell, a Kalamazoo lawyer.

Three Escape Serious Injury In Small Plane Crash At Local Airport

A pilot and two passengers escaped apparent serious injury at the Escanaba airport at 8:15 Sunday night when a three-place Piper Cub Super Cruiser crashed from a height of about 75 feet when its engine failed at takeoff. The plane was about 150 feet from the extreme south end of the north-south runway when its engine failed, it was explained by Pilot Russell Mallette, 30, of Centerline, Mich., who was taking his father-in-law, Carl Franzen, 60, of Ford River road, Escanaba, and 20-year-old Curt Bostrum, 825 Washington avenue, Escanaba, for a ride when the accident occurred. "The motor had been operating perfectly, but it failed at take-off," Mallette said. "I was making a turn to the right (west) to return to the landing strip when the accident happened."

Made 45-Degree Turn
Mallette said he had completed about a 45-degree turn when the plane nosed in. The right tip of the right wing caught the ground and swerved the nose of the plane into the ground about 75 yards west of the south end of the runway.

Taken to St. Francis hospital for treatment, Mallette required only first aid treatment for facial lacerations, but Franzen and Bostrum were hospitalized for observation. X-rays were taken yesterday morning.

Franzen suffered a blow above his right eye that left him in a dazed condition Sunday night, but he was discharged yesterday, and Bostrum, who suffered an injured back, was still in the hospital today. His condition was described this morning as "good."

In addition to other injuries, both Franzen and Bostrum sustained multiple small facial lacerations.

Persons at the airport who either witnessed the accident or saw the damaged plane shortly after the crash said the three men were "extremely lucky" to escape without serious injury.

Flew From Detroit
The plane was quite heavily loaded, airport officials said. In addition to the three men, it had a full load of gas.

The force of the impact smashed the propeller, engine and cockpit as the nose of the plane struck the ground and caused both wings to collapse. Only the tail assembly and rear fuselage were undamaged.

Mallette and his wife had flown to Escanaba from Detroit late Sunday afternoon, logging in at the local airport at 6:30. He said the motor had been functioning perfectly.

Mr. and Mrs. Mallette flew here to visit Mrs. Mallette's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Franzen and also her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Sullivan, 1014 1-2 Second avenue south.

It was the first plane ride for Curt Bostrum, son of Gabriel Bostrum, of 825 Washington avenue, Escanaba. The younger Bostrum came here only two months ago from Sweden to make his home in Escanaba.

Over 1500 Sodalists Attend MDSU Rally Held Here Monday

Over 1500 sodality members of the Marquette diocese, 30 priests and 50 sisters attended the eighth annual rally of the Marquette Diocese sodality here Monday.

The Right Reverend Thomas L. Noa, bishop of Marquette, was in attendance at the services and delivered the benediction at the close of the procession.

The rally was under the direction of Father David Spelgatti of Marquette with Father Varin Slack, O. F. M., of St. Joseph parish and the Sisters of Notre Dame of Escanaba in charge of arrangements.

The rally opened with the Mass of Angels sung by Father Spelgatti in St. Joseph church at 10:30 Monday. Father Wilbur Gibbs of Marquette and Father Clement LePine of Escanaba served as deacon and sub-deacon. Fr. Emil Beyer and Fr. Joseph Dunleavy of Marquette were masters of ceremonies for the mass.

Following the mass amateur entertainment was offered in William Bonifas auditorium while sodalists were served dinner in the church hall by the Altar Society of the church.

The candlelight living rosary, a May procession and the crowning of the Blessed Mother were staged in the exhibition building of the Upper Peninsula Fairgrounds from 3-5 p. m.

St. Ambrose high school of Ironwood presented the first mystery tableau, following a welcome address by Fred McGuigan of St. Joseph high school. The second mystery tableau was formed by sodalists of Baraga high school in Marquette; the third by St. Paul's high school in Negaunee; the fourth mystery by Loretto high school in Sault Ste. Marie; and the fifth by Sacred Heart high school of Laurium.

Father Spelgatti led the sodalists in "Hail Holy Queen" preceding the May procession, in which St. Joseph high school students, representatives of all high schools and senior sodalities of the diocese took part.

Sodalists sang the hymns, "Tis the Month of Our Mother" and "On This Day, O Beautiful Mother," following which Miss Cecile Mary Bussineau crowned the Blessed Mother. "Bring Flowers of the Rarest" was then sung at the shrine, and the Litany of the Blessed Virgin recited with Father David Spelgatti.

Rt. Rev. Thomas L. Noa, bishop of Marquette, offered solemn benediction, for which St. Joseph high school boys sang the "O Salutaris" and "Tantum Ergo."

Bishop Noa also addressed the sodalists at the 10:30 mass in St. Joseph church, using as his theme, "To Jesus through Mary."

Vast Building Program In Prospect Here With Funds Of Benefactress

The expenditure of nearly $2,000,000 for the construction of educational facilities, public and parochial, and for religious and civic uses, is in prospect in this community through the munificence of the late Mrs. Catherine Bonifas of Escanaba.

The generosity of the benefactress in bequeathing nearly all of a two and one-half million dollar estate to purposes beneficial to the Escanaba area was made known Saturday at the opening of Mrs. Bonifas' will. The announcement of the bequests was received locally with expressions of satisfaction by residents of Escanaba, who foresee the accomplishment of projects which will serve the community and the area.

Largest single bequest was $600,000 for the construction of a Catholic Central high school in Escanaba.

Site For Catholic High
The Rev. Fr. Martin Melican today said it is proposed to construct the school in an area of two blocks between South 20th and 22nd streets south of Lakeview cemetery. The site has already been acquired for that purpose.

Second largest bequest for educational purposes is $500,000 for the construction of a new Escanaba Senior high school. It is presumed that this building will be located in the neighborhood of the present Junior High school building on Ludington street, although the site will have to be approved by the state department of public instruction, according to John Lemmer, school superintendent. As executor of the estate, Lemmer today pointed out that liquidation of the stocks comprising the bulk of the estate will take some time and will depend upon the condition of the stock market. Fluctuations of the market could mean a difference of several hundred thousand dollars in the value of the estate.

Costs a Factor
There are other problems to be considered in carrying out the terms of the will, particularly in relation to building construction. Costs are now at least twice above the figures of a few years ago and studies must be made to determine the advisability of building at this time.

Because of these and other considerations there was no announcement on plans for a school for handicapped children, for which Mrs. Bonifas left $150,000. Another bequest was for $100,000 for the establishment of a Junior College (or community college) in Escanaba. Local speculation included the possibility that it would be located in the present Senior High school building when the new Senior High is completed. The only other Junior College in the Upper Peninsula is Gogebic Junior College in Ironwood. A Junior College offers first two years college courses and is fully accredited.

In prospect for Escanaba, under terms of the will, is the construction of a $100,000 Catholic old people's home and the construction of a $50,000 Knights of Columbus club house. No plans for either project have been announced.

Three Civic Projects
To the city of Escanaba Mrs. Bonifas bequeathed a total of $300,000. Of this total, $100,000 is to aid in the construction of a combined court house and city hall; $100,000 for construction of an office building to house federal, state and local agencies; and $100,000 to construct recreational facilities for youth.

The court house-city hall project has been discussed previously, and the request is expected to add impetus to plans for such a structure. The office building to house public offices would be helpful in attracting public agencies to Escanaba through the offer of space. Recreational facilities for youth might include construction of a new recreation center, although the exact use was not stipulated in the will.

In addition to the bequests for educational purposes in Escanaba, Mrs. Bonifas also bequeathed $150,000 to the state board of education for the construction of a new public elementary school at Garden in Delta county.

Although it was not stipulated in her will, Mrs. Bonifas many years ago provided life annuities for her brother and sisters in Ireland. The brother, the only direct heir, is Patrick Nolan, of Bunnagurrah, and at the age of 94 continues to receive the annuity purchased for him about 25 years ago.

EHS Baccalaureate Held Sunday; Rev. Drolet Is Speaker

Baccalaureate services for the 202 graduating students of Escanaba Senior high school were held Sunday evening in William Oliver auditorium. Rev. Fr. Howard Drolet, pastor of St. Patrick church here, addressed the students on the basic tenets of good character and emphasized its importance over intelligence and learning.

Rev. James G. Ward, pastor of St. Stephen's Episcopal church in Escanaba, pronounced the invocation and benediction. During the services, the a Cappella choir of EHS under Miss Jessie Wick sang "To Thee We Sing," and "Were You There." Miss Eunice Holmes student director of the choir, led the choral group in "The Lord Bless You and Keep You." The orchestra of the school under the baton of Albert Shomento, director, played the music for the procession, "America the Beautiful," and the recessional, "Onward Christian Soldiers."

Father Drolet told graduating students that prudence, fortitude, temperance and justice were the four most important character points and that one should always strive to cultivate them.

He compared learning and intelligence to the boilers of a ship, which provide the energy necessary to move, and character to the pilot, which directs those energies. Father Drolet reminded graduates of the problems of Communism, the cold war, and intolerance in the world.

Edward Edick, principal of Escanaba Senior high school, was master of ceremonies.

Byron T. Coulahan, World War Veteran, Is Heart Victim

Byron T. Coulahan, 48-year-old woodsman, died suddenly Monday morning of a heart attack sustained at a Mashek camp where he was working with William Stephens.

Byron Coulahan was born in Escanaba March 17, 1900, and lived here all his life. Coulahan served in World War I on a submarine chaser at Puget Sound, Wash.

He is survived by two sisters, Mrs. A. C. Hager, of Nogales, Ariz., and Sgt. Mary B. Coulahan, of Westover Field, Mass.

The body was taken to Allo Funeral home. Arrangements are incomplete.

NATION NEEDS SELF-RELIANCE

Memorial Message Given By Rev. Fr. Maier

The Rev. Fr. Sebastian Maier, pastor of St. Ann church, expressed gratitude for the strength of the men who gave their lives for their country, and called upon the citizens of the United States to be self-reliant and strong in defending their freedom in a democracy in a Memorial Day address yesterday in Ludington Park.

The soldiers and sailors who gave their lives to save democracy makes them real, genuine heroes, Fr. Maier declared. He quoted the words of Christ in praise of the man who lays down his life for his friends.

Fr. Maier lamented the fact that wars still are prevalent, despite education and science, and cited the attempts and the failures in efforts to prevent wars, including the failure of the United Nations.

Reliance upon our own resources, as in pioneer times, rather than reliance upon government to solve all our problems was advocated by the speaker, who cited the danger to democracy in a nation of "leaners." Continued appeals to government multiplied the number of bureaus established to serve requests for assistance, leading to greater federal control and eventually to totalitarianism.

The speaker urged citizens of the United States to take seriously their responsibilities, and to vote for the protection of their form of government. Failure to vote permits government positions to fall into the hands of those whose first consideration is the perpetuation of their public careers, rather than able representation of the people.

System For Issuance Of Building Permits Considerably Revised

Prospective builders no longer can walk into the city hall, fill out a simple form and walk out minutes later with an approved building permit.

In anticipation of enactment of a new building code for Escanaba, the procedure for securing building permits has been considerably revised. Building permits are no longer issued at the city clerk's office but in the office of the city engineer. Applications for permits however, must be made first at the office of the clerk.

Accompanying an application for a building permit must be two complete sets of plans and specifications for the proposed building. If the building is to be used for commercial purposes, the plans and specifications must first be approved by a registered architect or engineer.

The plans and specifications must be of sufficient clarity to indicate the nature and extent of the work proposed and show in detail that it will conform to the provisions of the building code and all relevant laws, ordinances, rules and regulations. The first sheet of each set of plans must give the house and street address of the proposed work and the address of the owner and person who prepared the plans and specifications. The plans must include a plot plan showing the location of the proposed building and of every existing building on the property.

The application, which is designed to provide considerably more information than contained in previous building permit applications provided by the city, must be checked by the building official and other departments of the city to determine compliance with laws and ordinances under their jurisdiction.

When a permit is issued, both sets of plans will be marked "approved" and such plans must not be changed without authorization of the building official. One set of approved plans and specifications will be retained by the building official. The other set of approved plans will be returned to the applicant but they must be kept in the building during construction.

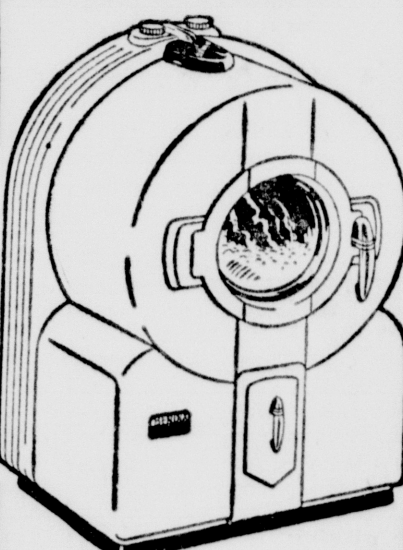

The proposed building code has not yet been finally approved by the city council but final approval is scheduled at the next meeting of the council. In the meantime, the only building permits being issued by the city are those that conform to the provisions of the proposed building code.

The building code provides for periodic inspection of construction jobs by the city building official, fees for which are assessed against the owner. The code also provides standards of construction.

O'Connell received a silver charm for the first year award. Second year awards are gold-filled charms, third year awards a band sweater, and fourth year awards a U. of M. blanket.

Escanaba's Good Fortune

THE tremendous contributions for public benefits made by the late Mrs. Catherine Bonifas under terms of her will announced Saturday revealed a remarkable desire to use her wealth for the good of her own community.

Mrs. Bonifas had long been a staunch supporter of education and religion and long before her death she had made numerous contributions for these purposes.

The benefits that Escanaba will secure as a result of the bequests of Mrs. Bonifas are far reaching. Escanaba will secure two new high schools, a new public senior high school and a new Catholic Central high school. Other educational benefits include $150,000 for a school for handicapped children, $100,000 for a junior college, the income from a $50,000 fund for scholarships to deserving students of both local high schools. In addition, Mrs. Bonifas left funds for the development of the Catherine Bonifas Technical school, an institution that she made possible as a result of a previous gift. A previous educational gift for Escanaba from Mrs. Bonifas included $50,000 for the enlargement of the junior high school gymnasium. A gift of $150,000 for a new elementary public school at Garden, where Mrs. Bonifas once lived, further swells her contributions to education, plus $250,000 for Marquette University at Milwaukee and $50,000 to St. Norbert's college at DePere, Wisconsin.

Mrs. Bonifas also revealed in her will a desire to help the community attain other civic needs, expressed by her contribution of $300,000 to the City of Escanaba. Of this money, $100,000 is allotted as a contribution towards a new combined city hall and courthouse, $100,000 for an office building to house governmental agencies and $100,000 to help meet the recreational needs of the community.

Other gifts that will provide lasting benefits to Escanaba include $50,000 to the Escanaba council, Knights of Columbus, presumably for expansion of the lodge building, $25,000 to the St. Francis hospital here, $50,000 to St. Joseph parish for maintenance of buildings, $100,000 for construction of an old peoples home here for Catholics of the diocese and development of a headquarters in the Bonifas residence, Lake Shore drive, for home missionary priests of the Upper Peninsula.

The generous contributions to Escanaba for civic benefit outlined in the terms of Mrs. Bonifas' will provide an outstanding opportunity to plan intelligently for a city of beautiful and practical public buildings.

MacArthur Says "No"

GENERAL Douglas MacArthur has rejected a proposal that he return to the United States at this time for the purpose of giving his views on economic matters in the Pacific to the Senate appropriations committee. MacArthur declared that his return in advance of the Republican national convention would surely be misunderstood as politically inspired.

MacArthur's supporters in this country have been loudly beating the drums for the general's return to America prior to the Republican convention with the hope that the occasion could be used to launch a stampede for MacArthur's nomination at the Republican convention.

If he did return to the United States at this time, it would be for political purposes only. The general obviously understands that and presented it as a reason for declining the committee's invitation. If he is ordered to return home, he will come, of course, but at least he has made his own position clear.

When General MacArthur does come back to the United States for the hero's welcome that he so richly deserves, there should be no political attachments, no room for suspicion that he is seeking political capital from the occasion.

There is nothing urgent about the economic conditions in the Far East. As MacArthur pointed out in his reply to the committee's invitation, he has already given his views in great detail and the program is shaping up in conformity to his recommendations.

Greece Is Saved

DWIGHT GRISWOLD, chief of the United States mission to aid Greece, told the Senate appropriations committee Friday that Greece has been saved from Communist domination, thanks to the American program of assistance.

Griswold inferred that the gravest threat to the independence of Greece has already been averted and that barring unexpected developments Greece will be able to establish internal security and wipe out the Communist guerrillas who have threatened to usurp the country.

This is pleasing news to the people of the United States, who have given so generously of their money to save Greece.

The situation in Greece still is a long ways from satisfactory, however. Aside from the constant disturbances created by Communists, the government that we have been backing in Greece is not a truly democratic government in the sense of democracy as we know it. It is a graft-ridden government, inefficient and autocratic.

The wholesale executions of rebels in Greece are not at all to our liking. They have been vigorously protested not only by the Russians but also by many other nations, including some of the nations in the so-called western democracy sphere.

Nevertheless, our main purpose in providing assistance to Greece has been fulfilled. That purpose was to prevent Greece, strategically located as it is, from falling by default into the hands of the Communists. If that achievement is definite and positive, as Griswold claims, the money that we have spent in Greece has served a genuinely useful purpose.

Way To The Voter's Hearts

THE second session of the 80th Congress has encompassed five of the most crucial months in our peacetime history. It has made some crucial decisions, too, such as the passage of the ERP bill. There are several other notable accomplishments to its credit.

Now Congress is scheduled to adjourn shortly, in time for the national political conventions. As usual, when adjournment times approaches, there is a big backlog of work piled up. But this time the backlog includes legislation which is vitally concerned with national and world history in the not distant future.

Action on some of these bills has been delayed because there are just so many hours in a day for congressmen to work. But the delay on others results from partisan division and individual obstructionism. And these tactics have happened to affect some of the most important business before the two houses.

There is also the Taft-Ellender-Wagner housing bill. This promising answer to our chronic housing problem has been kicked around for some four years now.

And there are such things as bills to admit displaced persons, to revise the United Nations, to control communism, and so on. The extension of the reciprocal trade program is being balked and temporized with by a group which seems to think that high tariffs will fit in nicely with the world dollar shortage which is holding European recovery to a paralyzingly slow pace.

The housing bill finds many members shying away, even though its bi-partisan sponsorship gives little cause for political jitters.

Further stalling on these and other matters can do the country tremendous harm. It does not seem likely that Congress can railroad them through before June 19, for its schedule also calls for the enactment of 10 large appropriation bills before the fiscal year ends.

It seems necessary then, that Congress should recess rather than adjourn, and come back to work when the conventions are over. Such a decision would be popular with few on Capitol Hill. The House and a third of the Senate are to be chosen in November, and this is a presidential year. Quite naturally the members would like the whole summer for campaigning.

But we can't see how any congressional candidate now in office could build himself more prestige with his constituents than by sticking to his job until it is finished.

Foolproof fishhooks are always turning up on the market—and the fishermen continue to bite.

Take My Word

For It . . . Frank Colby

PET SPEECH PEEVE

Mrs. Russell A. Rood of Plattsville, Neb., comes forward with her Southern dander and gives us this Pet Speech Peeve:

"I'm a Southerner and proud of it! It irks me to death when someone who hardly knows me addresses me in a horrid travesty of the Southern accent, saying, 'Howdy, honey chile. How are you all today? Reckon you all would like to be back down yonder in the South, wouldn't you all? Heh, heh, heh!' Please tell 'em, Colby, that Southerners do not use 'you all' in the singular."

I have "told 'em" for years. In the first place, "you all" is not ungrammatical; it has been good English for centuries: "You all do know that on the Luperual I thrice presented him a kingly crown."—Julius Caesar. "And the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you all. Amen."—Romans 16:24.

Second, what confuses the non-Southerner is the apparent, but not actual, use of "you all" in the singular. For instance, two Southerners meet on the street. "How're yawl?" asks the first. "Just fine; how're yawl?" replies the second. This is the Southern way of saying, "How are you and all your folks?" "We're just fine; how are all of you?"

The Southern woman will ask the grocer's clerk: "Have you all such and such a brand of coffee?" She means "you and the other members of this establishment." The clerk will not reply, "Yes'm; I have that brand." He will say, "Yes'm; we have that brand."

The Southerner gives three inflections to "you all," and often in the same sentence: "YOU-all came to dinner Sunday,

World Events Analyzed

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington.—This Congress is likely to end with a record of having appropriated more for military expenditures than any other peacetime Congress in history. In the same session it has pinched and pared on the things that make for stability in this country and in the world.

The last goes even for the State Department although, after a great struggle, it was possible to get an appropriation for an information service that approaches adequacy. Peace starves while war is fattened on what is scarcest and dearest.

When we look at Russia, the contrast is even sharper. World War II did enormous destruction in Russia, so that it is necessary to build back toward a level that was already painfully low in comparison to American standards. Yet the little that comes out of that oppressive land is almost all concerned with armed might. The pictures of Stalin and the members of the Politburo taken in Red Square on May Day show them in full military regalia, viewing fleets of planes and miles of marching men. We are told of the largest tank ever made and of new bombers and fighters.

RUSSIANS DISLIKE WAR

But also, from the little that trickles out, we know that the Russian people are no more desirous of war than the American people are. Here was one real accomplishment of the recent exchange of notes and the public declarations that followed. Both peoples are long for an assurance of peace.

The knowing speak of Russia's "peace offensive," putting the whole affair down to a tactical maneuver intended to deflect American interest and weaken American determination. It can be interpreted that way and with considerable supporting evidence.

Certainly Stalin's reply to Henry Wallace's open letter was almost entirely propaganda rather than a realistic effort to remove the obstacles that stand in the way of true peace. The reply repeated all the state generalizations that have come out of the Soviet propaganda machine for the past three years.

But it is a mistake, in my opinion, to dismiss it entirely as a new tactic aimed at gaining what the tactic of bluster and threat failed to gain.

In the same way it is a mistake to assume that the little group of men in the Kremlin can entirely ignore popular feeling. The Soviet "peace offensive" may have been fully as much for home consumption as it was a new move in the Soviet-U. S. chess game.

SOVIET OFFICERS DESERT

There is at least one piece of tangible evidence showing why the Kremlin might hesitate to send Russian troops into Western Europe. That is the continuing desertions of Soviet officers attached to occupation troops stationed in Eastern Germany.

At a rate that is growing fairly rapidly, they are seeking refuge in the zones of Germany under control of the U. S. and the British. The common soldier in the ranks of the Russian occupation troops would probably be doing the same thing if he were not so closely supervised and, in fact, locked up each night in barracks.

Here is the sign of an internal problem that may go much deeper than any one can know. A recent visitor here from Berlin, thoroughly familiar with the trend of desertions from Soviet ranks, put it this way:

"The trouble is that we aren't set up to exploit what is apparently a pretty wide desire to get out and not go back to the old life of privation and oppression. I believe if we could make a bona fide offer of 40 acres and a mule in the U. S. A. for every deserter—and really make good on it—they wouldn't have an army in Germany very long. Not unless they locked them up all the time."

He was, of course, only half serious. But the point is that we should never cease trying to go over the heads of the men in the Kremlin to appeal to the desire of the great mass of the Russian people to live in peace, free of the threat of war.

It has been said, and again with some supporting evidence, that the Soviet "peace offensive" has weakened U. S. determination to stand firm in Western Europe with the strength and the resources to maintain independent nations there. That is a sad commentary on the uncertainty, the vacillation, of our own policy.

Our position in the world requires strength—productive and military strength beyond the power of any "peace offensive" to shake. But our position also calls for the strength and the confidence to wage peace and to wage it effectively at every opportunity.

"Some people say that when a farmer gets on his feet to speak he is scared dumb," said Whybrev with complete good humor. "Well, I'm the kind that's so dumb he doesn't know enough to get scared, so I'm going to make a speech."

And he did. Sincerely he expressed his appreciation and that of the other farmers for the dinner at which they had been guests. He complimented the Chamber of Commerce for its interest in promoting agriculture and said the farmers were going to cooperate in the dairy booster program. Then he sat down, having said more in a couple minutes than some men can get out in a couple hours.

ON POPPY DAY.—Although it arrived too late for use prior to the American Legion's annual poppy day sale, the letter is interesting nonetheless. In fact there were two letters, one from Mrs. William Larabee of Rapid River, and the other written by her son, John C. Larabee of Chicago.

Seems to Get Wrapped Up in Everything Nowadays

Good Evening

By Clint Dunathan

NEVER MISSED.—J. T. Sharpsteen, Delta county road commission superintendent-engineer, will soon leave to accept the position of engineer of the Genesee county road commission at Flint.

He will leave a record of faithful public service, and take with him the same conscientious approach to his work that characterized his record here. For in the 14 years that Jim Sharpsteen was superintendent-engineer of the Delta county road commission he never missed even one meeting of the commission.

Perhaps you will be interested in knowing that in Genesee county he will head a road organization that is the third largest of any county in the state. His responsibilities there will be greater in many ways. His abilities, however, are equal to the demands that will be made upon them. And more than likely he will continue that 14-year record of never missing a commission meeting.

THE BEGINNING.—Committal service was held in Holy Cross cemetery chapel for the first time on Friday morning in funeral services for Mrs. Catherine Bonifas, the donor of the chapel to the Catholic cemetery.

Yet Mrs. Bonifas never saw the chapel completed, for she became ill while the work was yet in progress. Before her illness she visited the chapel and expressed satisfaction with the beauty of the structure, although the interior was still criss-crossed with scaffolding. It is coincidence that the first committal service in the chapel should be for the woman who suggested that the chapel be built and gave the money for its construction.

SOMETHING TO SAY.—It has been our experience that the man who seldom speaks at public gatherings often has the most to say. For this reason we heartily endorse the comment of Albert Whybrev, North Delta farmer, who spoke briefly and to the point at a recent meeting of business men and dairy farmers in Escanaba.

"Some people say that when a farmer gets on his feet to speak he is scared dumb," said Whybrev with complete good humor. "Well, I'm the kind that's so dumb he doesn't know enough to get scared, so I'm going to make a speech."

And he did. Sincerely he expressed his appreciation and that of the other farmers for the dinner at which they had been guests. He complimented the Chamber of Commerce for its interest in promoting agriculture and said the farmers were going to cooperate in the dairy booster program. Then he sat down, having said more in a couple minutes than some men can get out in a couple hours.

"You all" means a race or section, Family, party, tribe, or clan. "You all" means the whole connection of the individual man.

Can you name the eight parts of speech? Do you know the part each one plays in sentence structure? Mr. Colby's leaflet, C-14, "The Parts of Speech," explains in a simple way.

INTO THE PAST

Ten Years Ago

Newberry.—Mr. and Mrs. Claude Leighton are the parents of a son born May 31 at Newberry clinic.

Munising.—Keith Clement, a student of Michigan State College in East Lansing, is visiting here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Clement.

Gladstone.—Miss Theresa Kennedy has returned to St. Nazianz, Wis., after spending the past week here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Kennedy.

Twenty Years Ago

Escanaba.—Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Closs are the parents of a 12-pound son born May 31.

Escanaba.—August Olson, 1612 First avenue south, is leaving tomorrow for an extended trip to Sweden, his former home.

Escanaba.—Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Swanstrom and Mrs. William Bray have left for Milwaukee to visit Gordon and Hubert Bray, students of Marquette university.

Manistiquie.—A. F. Hall was elected president and James Webster secretary-treasurer of the Indian Lake Golf Club at a meeting last night of the organization.

Gladstone.—Alfred LaPine has arrived from Washington, D. C., where he attends Georgetown University, to spend the summer here with Mr. and Mrs. N. J. LaPine, his parents.

purchase of poppies, and we quote it in part:

"I don't know of a parent who wouldn't gladly trade their worldly possessions to have their sons back again and be ready to start life anew, shoulder to shoulder. Some one once said that time healed all wounds, but I'll venture that person never saw the gigantic wound suffered by a mother after she has received word that her son, or sons, have been lost."

And John's mother, Mrs. Larabee of Rapid River, writes:

"This typewritten sheet that I enclose was written by my son, who is blind from an accident two years ago. Some of the letters aren't placed just right, but you'll know what he means when you read it over."

IF YOU TURN BLACK.—There is an article in a recent issue of Michigan Conservation, written by R. D. Burroughs, that describes how to identify the edible non-poisonous from the poisonous mushrooms.

"There is no easy fool-proof way of distinguishing edible mushrooms from the poisonous ones," Burroughs writes. "Such tests as blackening of silver spoons or coins placed in the kettle while the mushrooms are cooking are not reliable. Both edible and poisonous mushrooms may blacken silver."

Burroughs then goes on to describe the edible from the poisonous, and after reading the piece and looking at the pictures we would hesitate to so much as nibble anything in the shape of a mushroom, unless it came on a stick or off the grocer's shelf.

The four "easy" identified "fool-proof" edible kind are: Morels, puffballs, shiitake and shaggymanes. Burroughs also reports that you can tell the "deadly poisonous mushrooms of the genus Amanita" by certain identifying features.

Burroughs warns, however, that the novice should go mushrooming in company with a veteran who knows an Amanita from a Morel before he sallies forth alone. The warning is timely. Nobody wants to turn black like a piece of tarnished silver.

New York, (AP)—It takes a long, long time to clean up a battlefield.

It isn't finished when the mortal debris and the broken weapons are taken away and the crops cover the maimed earth again.

There's much more to it than that. It takes generations to clean up a battlefield. One lifetime for the hurt to heal, perhaps several lifetimes for the hate to heal. And eventually someone has to foot the bill for the battlefield.

America today lays memorial wreaths on the graves of all the servicemen who died to keep the nation's pattern of freedom. It is a land still busy cleaning up its battlefields, old and new.

Only two of its nine wars have been written off the books. They are the revolutionary war and the war of 1812. The others are still being paid for.

I don't know what the revolutionary war cost to fight, but at least 4,044 of the 250,000 to 395,000 soldiers were killed. The government afterward paid pensioners $70,000,000.

The war of 1812-15 cost $119,624,000 to fight. Incomplete records list 1,956 of the 528,274 troops as killed. Hiram Croik, the last veteran of the war, died in 1905. But one widow of an 1812 soldier was still getting a $50 a month pension in 1938.

Up until 1933 the U. S. paid out $46,207,000 in war of 1812 pensions.

The last veteran of the war with Mexico died well over a decade ago, but a few months ago 47 dependents of the soldiers of 1845 were on the pension rolls. The war cost $173,298,000 to fight and the lives of 1,549 of the 116,597 men who served. Total pensions paid up to 1933 were $60,424,346.

Memorial Day is an outgrowth of the first U. S. billion dollar war—the "Civil War-between the states," which cost the north alone $3,000,000,000 in four years, 110,070 battle dead and 221,791 who died of disease.

But the government by 1933 had expended $7,698,594,101—twice the initial cost of the war—to the Union veterans.

The brief Spanish-American war cost $1,901,962,000 but only 700 American lives in battle. Some 280,564 saw service. By 1933 Spanish-American war pension costs totaled $811,819,000.

But all these were peanuts wars in terms of cost compared to the two World Wars.

The first World War sent 4,300,000 Americans into uniform. More than 51,000 were killed or died of combat wounds and 56,000 of "flu" and other diseases. The treasury in 1920 estimated the tab for this conflict at $24,000,000. In 1927 Treasury Secretary Andrew Mellon raised the estimate to $47,957,272,333. Still owed and unpaid by foreign countries from this first World War is about $15,000,000,000.

The second World War cost soared above three hundred billion dollars. It cost more in blood too, than any previous American war—about 275,000 lives.

Today there are in America 18,400,000 veterans of its wars. Well above 3,000,000 disabled veterans or survivors of deceased veterans draw monthly pensions. The Veterans' program this year will cost about twice what it cost Abraham Lincoln to wage a four-year war.

It takes a long, long time to clean up a battlefield.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington.—The American people don't realize it, but an average of twenty tons of contaminated food is sold to the public every day in the year because the food and drug administration has lost its authority to seize goods that spoil after reaching their destination.

What is even more alarming, the government cannot also have been stopped from confiscating deteriorated drugs unless it can be proved that the drugs lost their potency before delivery. For patients who may need a drug such as penicillin, this could mean the difference between life and death.

The government was stripped of its power to seize spoiled goods by a decree of the ninth circuit appeals court in San Francisco when the Phelps-Dodge company, a copper-mining firm, challenged the government's authority to confiscate some macaroni that had spoiled in company warehouses after shipment from Colorado to Arizona.

The circuit court upheld Phelps-Dodge, ruled that the government's authority ended after the goods reached their destination. Later, the supreme court refused to review the case.

HOUSE TO THE RESCUE

Immediately, Connecticut's Republican Congressman William Miller introduced a bill restoring the food and drug administration's jurisdiction. This brought a hailstorm of protests from the nation's millers, stirred up chiefly by E. W. Morrison of Denton, Texas, president of the Morrison Milling company.

Morrison, himself, appeared before the Senate commerce committee in opposition to the bill after it had passed the House without a dissenting vote. He brought as reinforcements Leslie Ford of Shawnee, Okla., president of the Shawnee Milling company, and Charles McClave of Great Falls, Mont., treasurer of Montana Flour Mills, Inc.

Morrison urged a watered-down substitute bill which would force the government to prove "willful intent" or "gross negligence" before it could press criminal charges.

"There have been seizures," he argued, "because of the inclusion in shipments of flour or meal of infinitesimal quantities of so-called filth."

"I don't even want an infinitesimal part of rat droppings in food that I purchase," snapped back Senator Brien McMahon, Connecticut Democrat.

SENATORIAL SALESMAN OBSTRUCTS

Nevertheless, the flour lobby has managed to obstruct the bill—largely through Senator "Pappy" O'Daniel of Texas, a former flour salesman, and Senator Ed Moore, millionaire Oklahoma oilman. Neither of them is running for re-election, and apparently they aren't concerned over public reaction. The bill is now stymied in committee and may not come up again in the closing rush of business. Meanwhile, the public is still buying tons of rotten food and bad drugs every day.

Note 1.—Senator O'Daniel is reported to be taking a $100,000-a-year job with a Texas flour mill after he leaves the Senate.

Note 2.—What the flour lobbyists, who appeared in opposition to the food and drug administration, didn't tell Congress is that all three have been convicted for possessing contaminated food. E. W. Morrison was fined $500 in Sherman, Texas, on November 26, 1946, for shipping corn meal, contaminated with rat droppings and insect fragments. Leslie Ford's Shawnee Milling company was fined $1,000 in Oklahoma City, April 26, 1947, for the same offense. McClave's Montana flour mills also was fined $2,500 and costs in Cleveland, Ohio, April 30, 1948 for possessing flour, contaminated with insect bits.

Pres. Truman Will Open Series Of Swedish Pioneer Celebrations

With President Truman scheduled to speak at 9 p. m., Friday, June 4, the nationwide celebration of the Swedish Pioneer Centennial will come to its climax with the festival to be held in the Chicago Stadium.

The official celebration in Chicago will continue for three days, including in addition to the giant Stadium event, a banquet in the Palmer House on Saturday evening, June 5, and a commemorative service in the Moody Memorial church on Sunday afternoon, June 6.

Prince Bertil, son of Sweden's Crown Prince, Minister of Commerce, Axel Gjores, and a large party of official representatives of the Swedish royal family will tour the Middle West during June, appearing in a number of cities to participate in their Centennial celebrations.

The festival at the Chicago Stadium will begin at 8:00 p. m., and will dramatize in colorful pageantry and music the story of the Swedish settlements in the Middle West and their contributions to American life. Outstanding choral groups will be accompanied by a symphony orchestra, and Karl Swenson, well-known actor, will be the narrator. President Truman's speech at 9:00 p. m., will be broadcast over the major networks.

Thousands of middle westerners are expected to journey to Chicago for the festival which also will feature a performance of the widely-acclaimed Sofflickorna, girl gymnasts of Stockholm, Sweden, who have been chosen by the Swedish government to represent the youth of Sweden in the American celebrations.

On June 5, the Centennial Banquet in the grand ballroom of the Palmer House will have as guest speakers H. R. H. Prince Bertil and Dr. Conrad Bergendoff, president of the Swedish Pioneer Centennial association. At the commemorative service for the pioneers on Sunday afternoon, June 6, at 3:00 o'clock in the Moody Memorial church, the Archbishop of Sweden, Erling Eidem, and Dr. Theodore W. Anderson, president of the Evangelical Mission Covenant of America, will deliver talks in Swedish and English respectively. A united male chorus of 300 voices will be heard during the program.

As part of the national celebration, the United States Post Office Department on June 4 will put on sale in Chicago a new 5-cent commemorative postage stamp honoring the 100th anniversary of the arrival of Swedish pioneers in the Middle West. The stamp, which is blue in color, depicts a Swedish pioneer moving westward with a covered wagon. Arranged in two vertical rows, one on each end, are twelve stars representing the 12 Midwestern states where the first Swedish settlers established themselves. Marshall Field and Company's sub-post office also will sell the stamps on June 4 in special ceremonies.

American Airlines will provide carrier service from Chicago to Stockholm for correspondence and parcel post bearing the new Centennial stamps. The airline will produce its own official cache to be issued on correspondence sent out June 4, carrying Air Mail greetings from this area to Sweden.

Swedish Art Exhibit

An exhibit of Swedish art and historic objects is on display at the Chicago Historical Society until June 15 as part of the Centennial celebration. It features the celebrated Olaf Krans primitive paintings of Bishop Hill, Illinois. The Museum of Science and Industry also features an exhibit "How They Came Here," May 26 through June 9.

Following Chicago's major centennial events is a two-day celebration at Rockford, Ill., in which the official Swedish delegation will participate on June 8 and 9. On Tuesday morning, June 8, the party will drive to Rockford where at 1:00 p. m., a private luncheon will be given for them by the Rockford Centennial committee which is headed by Swan Hillman, well-known local businessman.

Folk Festival Planned

At 6:45 p. m., the Swedish Pioneer Centennial parade will begin its march to the Rockford Stadium where a folk festival will be held. On Wednesday noon, June 9, all the service clubs of Rockford will give a civic luncheon to be followed by a ceremony and local festival at the Swedish-American hospital in which Prince Bertil will participate in the corner stone laying for a $750,000 addition to the hospital.

The official Rockford community banquet will be held at 7:00 o'clock Wednesday evening at the Faust hotel, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce as a salute to Swedish contributions to Rockford.

On June 11, members of the Swedish delegation will visit Waukegon, Ill., to be present at Centennial events in that community. At Waukegon, the occasion is the Midwest Division Convention of the American Union of Swedish singers.

The following day, June 12, the entire Swedish delegation will entrain for Detroit where a large committee, headed by Andrew E. Rylander, prominent engineer, has planned a two-day festival. On Sunday, June 13, a large Commemorative Service will be held at the Coliseum, starting with a religious program in which Dr. Algot Ohlson of North Park College will speak. There will be an address by Senator Johnson of Colorado and Prince Bertil will extend Sweden's greetings. The Mayor of Detroit and other officials will participate. On Monday evening, June 14, there will be a banquet in the Sheraton hotel when Prince Bertil will deliver an address.

Escanaba On June 15

A large part of the delegation will go by air to Escanaba, Michigan on the morning of June 15, where the Swedish people of the Upper Michigan Peninsula will celebrate the Centennial. After an informal luncheon at the Ludington hotel, the visiting delegates will view a parade arranged by the Delta County Centennial committee headed by A. Theodore Sohlberg of Gladstone.

An afternoon festival will be held at the Upper Peninsula State Fair grounds at which Prince Bertil will speak. Sofflickorna gymnasts will give a performance during the program. A dinner is scheduled for the evening when a member of the Swedish delegation will deliver the official talk. The Sofia girls will give an evening performance at the William W. Oliver auditorium.

From Escanaba, the delegation goes to Nebraska where they will visit in Lincoln on June 18 as guests of Governor Val E. Peterson. After a tour of the state university and state capitol, they will go to Omaha for a two-day celebration on June 19 and 20, under the direction of a committee headed by William O. Swanson, prominent Omaha retailer. On Saturday, June 19, the official banquet will take place at Hotel Fontenelle, and on Sunday afternoon, June 20, an outdoor Midsummer Folk Festival will be held at Elmwood Park.

Rock Island and Moline are coordinating their centennial celebrations under the direction of a committee headed by Dr. C. G. Carfelt. On Sunday, June 20, there will be a worship service at the Moline Field House with a sermon in Swedish by Professor Gunnar Westin of Uppsala, Sweden. The Moline Youth Chorus with soloist, David Nordstrom, will provide the music.

Galesburg, Ill., will entertain the Swedish delegation at a Centennial breakfast on Monday, June 21, at the Hotel Custer, after which official automobiles will take the Swedish delegation and members of the Illinois Pioneer Centennial Commission on a tour of the early Swedish settlements of Galva, Bishop Hill and Andover. At Andover, Prince Bertil will unveil a state marker placed on the old Swedish Chapel. Edward Lundgren heads the Galesburg committee.

The party will move on to Rock Island where a luncheon will be held on the Augustana College campus. The delegation will visit Moline Monday evening for a mass meeting at the Moline Field House when Prince Bertil and the Hon. Axel Gjores, Sweden's Minister of Commerce will speak.

In Iowa City on Tuesday, June 22, the University of Iowa will be host to the delegation at a luncheon, after which the party will travel to Des Moines where Midsummer Eve will be celebrated with a Centennial parade at 3:00 p. m. in connection with the Hawkeye Holidays. A Scandinavian banquet is scheduled for the evening at Hotel Fort Des Moines. Eskil Carlson heads the Des Moines Centennial committee.

The Twin Cities—Minneapolis and St. Paul—will be hosts to the Swedish delegation June 24-27. Ceremonies on Saturday, June 26, will include the unveiling of a memorial stone to honor the first Swedish settler in Minnesota, Jacob Falstrom. A luncheon has been arranged by the St. Paul association of Commerce and a banquet in the evening at the Radisson hotel.

On Sunday, June 26, 60,000 persons are expected to attend the traditional festival of the Northwest on Svenskarnas Dag on the Minnesota State Fair Grounds. Carl J. Carlson is chairman of the event.

A religious service will open the day's schedule, followed by a state luncheon at which Governor Luther W. Youngdahl will be host to 600 guests at the Conservation Building on the Fair Grounds. The afternoon program will begin at 2:00 o'clock.

The Swedish delegation leaves the Middle West and arrives in Philadelphia on Tuesday morning, June 29, where the Swedish Colonial Society and the American Swedish Historical Museum have formed the Swedish Pioneer Centennial Committee in Philadelphia, headed by Consul Maurice Hogeland. A luncheon will be held at the American Swedish Historical Museum followed by a reception. The Swedish party leaves for New York where the local Pioneer Centennial committee will give a farewell dinner at the Waldorf Astoria on Saturday, June 30. G. H. Lundbeck, jr., is chairman of the New York group.

Significant celebrations have been planned in other Midwestern cities, although the official party will not be able to attend. On June 10, Bloomington, Ill., has scheduled a centennial observance to be followed by the Des Plaines Valley celebration at Joliet. Fox River Valley will present its Centennial Festival in St. Charles, Ill., on June 17. Arnold P. Benson of Batavia is chairman of the Fox River Valley committee which includes 75 representatives of communities along Illinois's Fox River Valley.

The following day, June 18, one of the first Swedish settlements in the Middle West, Pine Lake, Wis., will share in the Centennial program. The Wisconsin Pioneer Centennial committee will dedicate a marker in Pine Lake to honor the memory of Gustaf Unonius who came to Wisconsin in the fall of 1841. The Wisconsin committee is headed by Stig Wiren.

The purposes of the Swedish Pioneer Centennial are to observe fittingly the arrival of the Swedish Pioneers in the Middle Western States and to take cognizance of the contributions of the pioneers and their descendants to American life; also, to assemble, preserve and publish books, records and documents relating to the Swedish pioneers and their accomplishments in helping to build the great Middle West.

Emotion Can Make Heart Skip Beat

New York—The romantic notion that your heart seems to skip a beat at the thought of your one and only gets scientific confirmation from studies reported to the New York Academy of Medicine. The studies were made by Drs. Ian P. Stevenson, Charles H. Duncan and Stewart Wolf of the New York Hospital and Cornell Medical College.

Doctors as well as poets have long thought that disturbances in the rhythm of the heart beat were related to emotional disturbances. So Dr. Stevenson and associates decided to look into the matter, using that modern scientific medical tool, the electrocardiograph. This instrument makes a graphic tracing of the electric current produced by the heart's contraction.

Pres. Truman Will Open Series Of Swedish Pioneer Celebrations

With President Truman scheduled to speak at 9 p. m., Friday, June 4, the nationwide celebration of the Swedish Pioneer Centennial will come to its climax with the festival to be held in the Chicago Stadium.

The official celebration in Chicago will continue for three days, including in addition to the giant Stadium event, a banquet in the Palmer House on Saturday evening, June 5, and a commemorative service in the Moody Memorial church on Sunday afternoon, June 6.

Prince Bertil, son of Sweden's Crown Prince, Minister of Commerce, Axel Gjöres, and a large party of official representatives of the Swedish royal family will tour the Middle West during June, appearing in a number of cities to participate in their Centennial celebrations.

The festival at the Chicago Stadium will begin at 8:00 p. m., and will dramatize in colorful pageantry and music the story of the Swedish settlements in the Middle West and their contributions to American life. Outstanding choral groups will be accompanied by a symphony orchestra, and Karl Swenson, well-known actor, will be the narrator. President Truman's speech at 9:00 p. m., will be broadcast over the major networks.

Thousands of middle westerners are expected to journey to Chicago for the festival which also will feature a performance of the widely-acclaimed Sotiflickorna, girl gymnasts of Stockholm, Sweden, who have been chosen by the Swedish government to represent the youth of Sweden in the American celebrations.

On June 5, the Centennial Banquet in the grand ballroom of the Palmer House will have as guest speakers H. R. H. Prince Bertil and Dr. Conrad Bergendoff, president of the Swedish Pioneer Centennial association. At the commemorative service for the pioneers on Sunday afternoon, June 6, at 3:00 o'clock in the Moody Memorial church, the Archbishop of Sweden, Erling Eidem, and Dr. Theodore W. Anderson, president of the Evangelical Mission Covenant of America, will deliver talks in Swedish and English respectively. A united male chorus of 300 voices will be heard during the program.

As part of the national celebration, the United States Post Office Department on June 4 will put on sale in Chicago a new 6-cent commemorative postage stamp honoring the 100th anniversary of the arrival of Swedish pioneers in the Middle West. The stamp, which is blue in color, depicts a Swedish pioneer moving westward with a covered wagon. Arranged in two vertical rows, one on each end, are twelve stars representing the 12 Midwestern states where the first Swedish settlers established themselves. Marshall Field and Company's sub-post office also will sell the stamps on June 4 in special ceremonies.

American Airlines will provide carrier service from Chicago to Stockholm for correspondence and parcel post bearing the new Centennial stamps. The airline will produce its own official cache to be issued on correspondence sent out June 4, carrying Air Mail greetings from this area to Sweden.

Swedish Art Exhibit

An exhibit of Swedish art and historic objects is on display at the Chicago Historical Society until June 15 as part of the Centennial celebration. It features the celebrated Olaf Krans primitive paintings of Bishop Hill, Illinois. The Museum of Science and Industry also features an exhibit "How They Came Here," May 26 through June 9.

Following Chicago's major centennial events is a two-day celebration at Rockford, Ill., in which the official Swedish delegation will participate on June 8 and 9. On Tuesday morning, June 8, the party will drive to Rockford where at 1:00 p. m., a private luncheon will be given for them by the Rockford Centennial committee which is headed by Swan Hillman, well-known local businessman.

Folk Festival Planned

At 6:45 p. m., the Swedish Pioneer Centennial parade will begin its march to the Rockford Stadium where a folk festival will be held. On Wednesday noon, June 9, all the service clubs of Rockford will give a civic luncheon to be followed by a ceremony and local festival at the Swedish-American hospital in which Prince Bertil will participate in the corner stone laying for a $750,000 addition to the hospital.

The official Rockford community banquet will be held at 7:00 o'clock Wednesday evening at the Faust hotel, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce as a salute to Swedish contributions to Rockford.

On June 11, members of the Swedish delegation will visit Waukegon, Ill., to be present at Centennial events in that community. At Waukegon, the occasion is the Midwest Division Convention of the American Union of Swedish singers.

The following day, June 12, the entire Swedish delegation will entrain for Detroit where a large committee, headed by Andrew E. Rylander, prominent engineer, has planned a two-day festival. On Sunday, June 13, a large Commemorative Service will be held at the Coliseum, starting with a religious program in which Dr. Algot Ohlson of North Park College will speak. There will be an address by Senator Johnson of Colorado and Prince Bertil will extend Sweden's greetings. The Mayor of Detroit and other officials will participate. On Monday evening, June 14, there will be a banquet in the Sheraton hotel when Prince Bertil will deliver an address.

Escanaba On June 15

A large part of the delegation will go by air to Escanaba, Michigan on the morning of June 15, where the Swedish people of the Upper Michigan Peninsula will celebrate the Centennial. After an informal luncheon at the Ludington hotel, the visiting delegates will view a parade arranged by the Delta County Centennial committee headed by A. Theodore Sohlberg of Gladstone.

An afternoon festival will be held at the Upper Peninsula State Fair grounds at which Prince Bertil will speak. Sotiflickorna gymnasts will give a performance during the program. A dinner is scheduled for the evening when a member of the Swedish delegation will deliver the official talk. The Sofia girls will give an evening performance at the William W. Oliver auditorium.

From Escanaba, the delegation goes to Nebraska where they will visit in Lincoln on June 18 as guests of Governor Val E. Peterson. After a tour of the state university and state capitol, they will go to Omaha for a two-day celebration on June 19 and 20, under the direction of a committee headed by William O. Swanson, prominent Omaha retailer. On Saturday, June 19, the official banquet will take place at Hotel Fontenelle, and on Sunday afternoon, June 20, an outdoor Midsummer Folk Festival will be held at Elmwood Park.

Rock Island and Moline are coordinating their centennial celebrations under the direction of a committee headed by Dr. C. G. Carfelt. On Sunday, June 20, there will be a worship service at the Moline Field House with a sermon in Swedish by Professor Gunnar Westin of Uppsala, Sweden. The Moline Youth Chorus with soloist, David Nordstrom, will provide the music.

Galesburg, Ill., will entertain the Swedish delegation at a Centennial breakfast on Monday, June 21, at the Hotel Custer, after which official automobiles will take the Swedish delegation and members of the Illinois Pioneer Centennial Commission on a tour of the early Swedish settlements of Galva, Bishop Hill and Andover. At Andover, Prince Bertil will unveil a state marker placed on the old Swedish Chapel. Edward Lundgren heads the Galesburg committee.

The party will move on to Rock Island where a luncheon will be held on the Augustana College campus. The delegation will visit Moline Monday evening for a mass meeting at the Moline Field House when Prince Bertil and the Hon. Axel Gjöres, Sweden's Minister of Commerce will speak.

In Iowa City on Tuesday, June 22, the University of Iowa will be host to the delegation at a luncheon, after which the party will travel to Des Moines where Midsummer Eve will be celebrated with a Centennial parade at 3:00 p. m. in connection with the Hawkeye Holidays. A Scandinavian banquet is scheduled for the evening at Hotel Fort Des Moines. Eskil Carlson heads the Des Moines Centennial committee.

The Twin Cities—Minneapolis and St. Paul—will be hosts to the Swedish delegation June 24-27. Ceremonies on Saturday, June 26, will include the unveiling of a memorial stone to honor the first Swedish settler in Minnesota, Jacob Falstrom. A luncheon has been arranged by the St. Paul association of Commerce and a banquet in the evening at the Radisson hotel.

On Sunday, June 26, 60,000 persons are expected to attend the traditional festival of the Northwest on Svenskarnas Dag on the Minnesota State Fair Grounds. Carl J. Carlson is chairman of the event.

A religious service will open the day's schedule, followed by a state luncheon at which Governor Luther W. Youngdahl will be host to 600 guests at the Conservation Building on the Fair Grounds. The afternoon program will begin at 2:00 o'clock.

The Swedish delegation leaves the Middle West and arrives in Philadelphia on Tuesday morning, June 29, where the Swedish Colonial Society and the American Swedish Historical Museum have formed the Swedish Pioneer Centennial Committee in Philadelphia, headed by Consul Maurice Hogeland. A luncheon will be held at the American Swedish Historical Museum followed by a reception. The Swedish party leaves for New York where the local Pioneer Centennial Committee will give a farewell dinner at the Waldorf Astoria on Saturday, June 30. G. H. Lundbeck, Jr., is chairman of the New York group.

Significant celebrations have been planned in other Midwestern cities, although the official party will not be able to attend. On June 10, Bloomington, Ill., has scheduled a centennial observance to be followed by the Des Plaines Valley celebration at Joliet. Fox River Valley will present its Centennial Festival in St. Charles, Ill., on June 17. Arnold P. Benson of Batavia is chairman of the Fox River Valley committee which includes 75 representatives of communities along Illinois's Fox River Valley.

The following day, June 18, one of the first Swedish settlements in the Middle West, Pine Lake, Wis., will share in the Centennial program. The Wisconsin Pioneer Centennial committee will dedicate a marker in Pine Lake to honor the memory of Gustaf Unonius who came to Wisconsin in the fall of 1841. The Wisconsin committee is headed by Stig Wren.

The purposes of the Swedish Pioneer Centennial are to observe fittingly the arrival of the Swedish Pioneers in the Middle Western States and to take cognizance of the contributions of the pioneers and their descendants to American life; also, to assemble, preserve and publish books, records and documents relating to the Swedish pioneers and their accomplishments in helping to build the great Middle West.

VAUDEVILLE IS COMING BACK Old-Time Entertainment Used By Movies

BY ROBERT C. RUARK

New York—I always argued that vaudeville never died; it was just that its talented members stepped out and became artists, leaving the field to the bums. What the successful graduates offered was still Scranton, Pa., but with a personal twist.

There seems to have been, lately, a great swing back to the old, basic, mammy-song-coonshout-bladder-whacking kind of entertainment. They have dusted off Jolson; the air is full of sentimental songs of the '20's and '30's; the musical stage leans heavily on the gay nineties. This reaffirms my faith in the entertainment tastes of the American people, because dependent career not for the milky moosings of anemic baritones, saggy old French women who sing with their eyebrows, and artists who glare and refuse to continue if a customer clinks his beer-mug.

I filled out the correct papers and emigrated to Broadway, to see what caused the traffic jam in front of a musical saloon called the Harem, which cannot cope with its torrent of customers, while some of the suave, sophisticated spots suffer from malignant malnutrition in the cashbox.

The Harem, I find, offers the old Garden of Allah motif in chorus girls. It has acrobats. Its dance team brings down the house with a gay nineties number. Two choruses got up as oriental slaves unwind some drapes from a pretty red head. The chorines wear pie-tins on their torsos. And the stars—the Brothers Ritz—hit each other over the crotch with bladders, smear each other with cream pies, and otherwise lean on the stock burlesque recipe for killing the patrons.

But I cannot remember ever seeing a nightclub performance that so pleased the audience. Although every phase is based on what the soigne set would call pure corn, it is all fresh, funny and fine. The customers tear the house down, and I think it is because the singers can actually sing; the chorus gals are pretty and actually know how to dance; the acrobats invest their skill with humor; the ballroom team mixes proficiency with fine satire; and the Ritz boys frazzle themselves working for their $15,000 a week. Despite its vulgarity, I think there is no funnier act alive—possibly because broadly saleable humor is close kin to vulgarity, and we are all a little vulgar anyhow.

St. Joe Graduates Hear Father Varin At Baccalaureate

Forty-three graduating students of St. Joseph high school, Sunday, participated in baccalaureate and commencement services held at St. Joseph church here. Father Varin Slack, O. F. M., assistant church pastor, delivered the baccalaureate address at the nine o'clock mass for graduates, and Father David Spelgatti, editor of the Northern Michigan edition of "Our Sunday Visitor" delivered the principal address at commencement exercises held at the church Sunday night.

The Most Rev. Thomas L. Noa, bishop of the Marquette diocese, was present for commencement exercises in St. Joseph's and delivered a short congratulatory address to the congregation following commencement activities.

In his baccalaureate sermon, Father Varin advised students that they should not fear that their life would end, but rather that it should never begin. "Many people die, without ever having reached intellectual and emotional maturity," the pastor emphasized.

"Coming of age means that a person is capable of self-government and that he can direct his energies in paths beneficial and acceptable to society, and until he is capable of doing this he has not reached maturity," said the priest.

Following the mass and sermon, the graduates, in white caps and gowns, formed a procession of Corpus Christi.

Father David Spelgatti of Marquette addressed the graduating students at commencement exercises Sunday evening, with a sermon on character and the state of the world today. The commencement opened with a Mendelssohn procession and the Ave Maria of Yon, sung by Frank Hinn.

Father Spelgatti stressed the disregard for God and Truth in the world today, and the consequent disregard for vested authority. A lot of sanctity for the

POTTER GIVES CARNEY TALK Memorial Athletic Field Is Dedicated

If we should work as closely together now as we did during the war, a just and lasting peace would be ours, Rep. Charles E. Potter of Cheboygan declared at the dedication of the Carney memorial athletic field Sunday afternoon.

"During the war we fought as a unit, both on the battle front and on the home front," the Eleventh Michigan district congressman said. "We fought and worked for peace—a lasting peace. Why is it that when we strive so long and prayed so hard for lasting peace that we now face turbulence on every hand. Today, three years after the war, we find bickering and quarreling. We find selfish interests grabbing for all they can get. We find group after group grabbing for another man's pocketbook."

"We also must be cognizant of another factor which is challenging lasting peace," Potter continued. "This time a foreign power—Soviet Russia—by open and subversive means is relentless in its efforts to undermine not only this nation but every other free country in the world. We fought a war to bring lasting peace to the world, but a just and lasting peace can only be founded on mutual respect."

"It is up to us to finish the job and win the peace. But peace must be won with honor—as was intended by those whom we honor today. A nation that seeks to appease its principles will eventually not only lose its honor, its self-respect and prestige, but may well lose its very existence as well. We all remember Munich."

"How can our great nation—yes, the most powerful and richest nation on earth—which has survived two great wars within a generation, build and preserve a peace that will guarantee that through time our dead have not died in vain? No nation, whatever its size, can gain or maintain respect of other nations when it is weak, when it is wishy-washy in its diplomacy. We must indicate to the rest of the world that the principles of government, which made us great and retained us free, are paramount in our endeavor. We must indicate to the world that we are determined to work together to maintain our right in living by those principles. That is why the public has demanded of its Congress to take the necessary steps to expand our defense program. The United States of America has never used, and never will use, its strength to force our ideal and our form of government on other nations. We do not seek additional territory by conquest. We merely have pledged ourselves to insure that other nations do not force their foreign ideals on us and other free peoples."

During commencement exercises, Bernard Ammel sang "Panis Angelicus" and Earl Owen sang "O Salutaris" and the "Tantum Ergo."

Musical Wolf, Finnish Bath On One-Acre Farm

BY ROBERT E. VOGES

Dimondale, Mich. (AP)—Want a musical wolf? Or a hand-painted mouse trap? Or a house-broken pigeon? Or a Finnish steam bath? Mrs. Thelma Whitlock has them all on her one-acre country place here. She says life can be pretty amusing if you don't take it too seriously. She believes she has the only wolf in wolfdom that can howl "Nearer My God To Thee," "Timmy," the wolf, howls in accompaniment to the town church bells. He also enjoyed howling with the air raid sirens during the war—with the sirens coming out second best.

In his puppy days Timmy could be led on a leash and had the run of the Whitlock home. Seven years old now, Timmy weighs 100 pounds, stands half as high as a man. He is confined to a back yard runway.

Mrs. Whitlock believes owning your own wolf pays off in the solid satisfaction of pulling a near-perfect deadpan gag. Like this:

Guests are gathered around the fireplace. Benny, the house-broken pigeon, is fluttering in the background. Someone is admiring the hand-painted mousetraps. Outside it is cold—lots of snow. Suddenly a spine-curdling howl splits the night.

"That sounds like a wolf," someone comments nervously.

"It is," Mrs. Whitlock answers nonchalantly.

"You have to be an intimate of the Whitlock family to rate a hand-painted mouse trap. Mrs. Whitlock gives them out at Christmas. St. Swithin's Day and other festive occasions to friends who have mice and artistic souls. They are painted in color schemes to go with any kitchen. They also catch mice—any color mice, not necessarily hand-painted ones. "I believe that to be relaxing a hobby should be entirely useless," says Mrs. Whitlock.

The only drawback to Benny, the pigeon is that when Benny is in the house four hunting dogs have to stay outside in their runway. When the dogs come inside Benny has to be put outside to sulk with the chickens. "The dogs just wore themselves out pointing at that pigeon, so we finally had to work out some plan of segregation," Mrs. Whitlock explains. The Finnish steam bath is a solidly-constructed stone hut set on the bank of the river that winds past the rear of the Whitlock home. In summer the Finnish steam bathers dive into the river after taking a treatment. In the winter the thing to do is roll in the snow. Most bathers don't.

When not running the affairs of her lively household Mrs. Whitlock works as secretary of the Michigan State Board of Embalmers and Funeral Directors.

Township Cemetery Dedicated Sunday

About seven hundred persons attended the Memorial Day services held at the dedication of the Escanaba township cemetery in Flat Rock Sunday afternoon.

In the address of the day, Rev. Fr. Arnold Dion, pastor of Holy Family church, paid tribute to the early pioneers who felled the forests and established the farms in the Flat Rock area. He also eulogized the men who fought in the two World Wars in defense of their country.

Rev. James G. Ward of Escanaba pronounced the invocation; Frank Hinn sang a solo, and Tony Flynn of Escanaba recited "In Flanders Field." Mayor Robert LeMire of Escanaba also delivered a brief address.

Music was furnished during the afternoon by the Escanaba municipal band. The Veterans of Foreign Wars and the American Legion participated in the dedicatory exercises.

An average of 47,000,000 gallons of water flows over Africa's Victoria Falls every minute.

Electron Microscope Solves Germ Identity

By FRANK CAREY
Associated Press Science Reporter
Minneapolis, (AP)—Science's super-sleuth—the electron microscope—has solved a tricky case of mistaken identity involving two rascals of the germ world, the Society of American Bacteriologists was told.

The powerful "eyes" of the scope have detected a definite difference between two organisms which look exactly alike under an ordinary microscope—and which have confused some investigators.

The organisms are:

Shotgun Pellets Consumed by Ducks

St. Paul, Minn., (SS) — Lead shot that never hit any ducks may nevertheless be responsible for the present alarming decline in the duck population, suggests Vincent H. Reid of the Minnesota Division of Game and Fish, in the forthcoming issue of the Journal of Wildlife Management. Gizzards of 1,084 wild ducks which were analyzed in his study contained lead shot in slightly over 9 percent of all cases. The ducks had picked up the pellets along with their food from the shallow bottom mud. It is known that such gizzard pellets can cause more or less severe lead poisoning, which may affect the ducks' ability to reproduce if it does not kill them outright.

The problem of lead poisoning from spent shot is becoming more acute, Mr. Reid remarks, because increasing numbers of hunters are now shooting over Canadian and western waters where the main breeding grounds are.

1. The germ that causes syphilis.
2. The germ that causes "Pinta"—or "mal de los pintos"—a skin disease that occurs in Mexico and Cuba.

Dr. Juan J. Angulo and colleagues of the University of Havana, and of the Squibb Institute for Medical Research, New Brunswick, N. J., made the report.

They said "Pinta" has been regarded by some investigators as a clinical form of syphilis found in the tropics—because of the fact that germs isolated from a patient look just like syphilis germs under a regular microscope.

And yet, they declare, there is both clinical and experimental evidence that "Pinta" is a distinct disease.

So they obtained a germ from Cuban afflicted with Pinta—and put the problem up to the electron microscope.

They found a number of differences in the appearance of the germ, as compared with syphilis germs, and they said:

"The possibility of using the electron microscope in the differential diagnosis of syphilis and pinta is suggested by the present results."

The possibility that a germ already recognized as a cause of inflammation of the bladder in man may be the cause of a number of diseases in animals was suggested by Dr. R. A. Packer of Iowa State college.

He said the organism is called "proteus ammoniac" and that it has been isolated from a number of animals suffering from various ailments.

It was found in dogs which had skin trouble; in turkeys, poult and baby chicks suffering from blood poisoning; in cattle afflicted with mastitis, pneumonia and other ills; and in swine on the sick list with inflamed intestines.

At the society's annual banquet, Dr. Allan Weyl Bernheimer of New York was presented the "Eli Lilly Award" in recognition of "an outstanding contribution in the field of bacteriology."

He received a medal and $1,000 honorarium.

The 34-year-old assistant professor of bacteriology at New York University college of medicine was cited for researches on "toxins"—poisonous materials—produced by certain streptococcus germs.

Moscow Ridicules Vandenberg Plan of Veto Power Change

Moscow, Russia (AP)—Izvestia poked ridicule Friday at a resolution by Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg (R-Mich.) calling for changes in the veto power in the United Nations.

The Soviet newspaper branded the resolution as a "clandestine" attempt to revise the U. N. charter, and to use the U. N. as a "cover" for United States imperialism.

(The Senate Foreign Relations Committee, under Chairman Vandenberg, recommended voluntary agreement "to remove the veto from all questions involving specific settlements of international disputes and situations and from the admission of new members.")

(The resolution was in the form of a "working paper" for the advice of the president in pursuing U. S. policy in the foreign field.)

C&NW HISTORY IS REVIEWED

Packard Is Speaker At Kiwanis Meeting

The history of the Chicago and North Western railway was reviewed in an interesting talk by Bruce Packard, division engineer, at the meeting of the Kiwanis club at the Sherman hotel this noon.

Packard said that the C. & N. W. railway represents a consolidation of 144 different companies during the past century. The Illinois state legislature issued a charter for a railroad in 1836, but it was not until 1847 that a survey was made for the Galena and Chicago Union railroad. This first Middle West railroad commenced operations in October, 1848. The present Chicago and North Western railroad was incorporated in 1859.

The Peninsula Railroad company, later absorbed by the C. & N. W. railway, projected a line from Escanaba to Negaunee in 1864 to serve the Jackson mine, and it was not until 1872 that the line was completed from Escanaba to Marinette.

Packard said that besides being the first railroad west of Chicago, the C. & N. W. railway was the first to install a railway postoffice and Pullman cars.

Announcement was made that Donald Backofen left Saturday for Los Angeles to attend the Kiwanis International convention as a delegate from the Escanaba club.

The next meeting will be held at St. Stephen's church on Monday noon.

Vandal Gang Causes $10,000 Damage At School in Detroit

Detroit, June 1 (AP)—Vandals raged through the Foch intermediate school over the weekend, smashing everything before them and causing $10,000 damages.

Another East Side school also was entered, apparently by the same gang, but little damage resulted.

Principal A. L. Miller said the gang broke an Italian life-sized bust of Marshal Ferdinand Foch, French hero of World War I after whom the school was named. It was presented to the school in 1925 by the French government and Miller said it cannot be replaced.

The vandals also wrecked a $6,000 public address system, the cafeteria and food freezers. The swimming pool was littered with dirt and records of students destroyed.

Mail Pouch Stolen At Vassar Station Is Found In Creek

Tuscola, Mich., June 1 (AP)—The United States government today was seeking the person who stole a pouch of first class mail from the Vassar, Mich., railroad station and ditched it in a creek.

Two youngsters, Joan Clark, 13, and Teddy Schomaker, 11, found the pouch Sunday in Perry Creek, two and one half miles south of here. William W. Schumaker, Teddy's father, notified Saginaw sheriff's officers.

The mail, including paychecks for Detroit Edison Co. and Michigan Bell Telephone Co. employees in this area, was reported stolen from the depot May 19.

Memory Lane For World War II Vets Dedicated

Packard Is Speaker At Kiwanis Meeting

Escanaba's Memory Lane of trees along 23rd street south of Ludington street in honor of servicemen who died in World War II was officially dedicated at a formal program Sunday afternoon.

The dedicatory address was made by William J. Miller, Delta county probate judge. Others on the brief speaking program were William Koppes, of the VFW post which sponsored the project; Robert E. LeMire, mayor of Escanaba; the Rev. James G. Ward, who gave the benediction; and the Rev. Fr. Maier, who gave the invocation.

The city band furnished music for the occasion, and a firing squad composed of eight members of Company C, Delta county National Guard, commanded by Captain Roy Johnson, fired volleys

Part of Portland's downtown area, including the Union station, was under water today after the Willamette river topped the seawall. The station is Portland's only railroad depot, and trains were unable to use it.

In North Portland, where more than 18,000 persons were left homeless in Sunday's Vanport disaster, the flooded area was tripled by the bursting of two more dikes. On top of these two more dikes, the approaches to the Pacific highway, principal north-south route.

The breaking of these dikes left three square miles under water, with houses from Vanport pouring through both gaps. Some of them turned end-over-end, and all hope of salvaging these was lost.

No bodies have been recovered from Vanport. Some bodies might be swept so far they never would be found.

Army engineers are investigating the "blow out" of the railroad embankment which resulted in the Vanport disaster. The rail fill was constructed 40 years ago. Commenting on the fate of what once was Oregon's second largest city, the Portland housing authority announced the agency "feels terribly, terribly bad that lives possibly were lost, but all you can do is depend on the advice of competent engineers."

Survivors are scattered in thousands of homes throughout the city, in schools and churches. Most of the separated families are getting together. But the Red Cross has not issued an estimate of the missing.

Homes Evacuated
The major threats downstream from Portland were at Clatskanie, Rainier, Woodland, Kelso, Longview and Kalama. Those areas, where much of the population is being moved out by army engineers, national guardsmen and civilian agencies, are like vast swamplands.

In British Columbia, military authorities were given power to conscript citizens and requisition transport to fight the disastrous Fraser river flood. Four thousand Canadian soldiers are in the area.

A gasoline tank containing 100,000 gallons fell into the Columbia river at Umatilla. But army engineers discounted the danger of fire, asserting the gasoline was being mixed well with the flood waters.

Railroad service and telephone communications north of Portland were broken at the Columbia. Trains operating south were unable to use the Union station. Airlines had to abandon their Portland bases because the Portland airport was under water, forcing them to move to nearby Salem and Molokini.

The northwest was faced with a power shortage as Bonneville dam was compelled to drop its production 50 percent. Grand Coulee dam's power output was down ten percent. Customers were asked to curb their use of electricity.

The Red Cross estimated that 45,000 persons already have been "severely affected" by the floods in the Columbia basin—and the total is expected to mount rapidly when the crest hits the downstream lowlands. It said 10,000 homes have been destroyed or damaged.

Army engineers said that flood waters were receding upstream on the Columbia, "easing things considerably."

Harrison Appointed By C&NW at G. Bay

Green Bay, Wis.—Francis Harrison, nicknamed "Carter" after the late mayor of Chicago, has taken over the superintendency of the North Western's Lake Shore division here, effective June 1, for an undetermined period.

He succeeds J. F. Sainsbury, who becomes superintendent of the Wisconsin division, with headquarters in Chicago, also for an undetermined period.

N. L. Waterman, who has been superintendent of the Wisconsin division, and John R. Cantwell, superintendent of the Galena division, have been placed on special assignment out of the general manager's office to make a study of terminal facilities in Milwaukee and Chicago. They will act with B. R. Meyers, who has been assistant to the chief engineer. Length of the study is uncertain, but upon its close it is assumed that the men will return to their posts.

Speaking on the subject "Only the Forgotten are Dead," Judge Miller said in part:

"It is fitting and in keeping with the observance of Memorial Day that Memory Lane should be dedicated to the memory of the soldier dead of Delta county. The gift of any memorial is based upon the desire and purpose of the donor to perpetuate the name, the service or contribution of the person or persons who have served their community or nation. The memorial is based upon love, respect and appreciation for the service rendered by the deceased."

"Memorial Day is essentially a day of memories. Father, mothers, wives, and children have memories of the son, the daughter, the husband and father who answered their country's call to arms. They have memories of the partings and farewells, and memories of the letters so anxiously awaited from the loved ones. The memories of suspense, and the worry of their loved one in combat."

"The trees planted here are living symbols of the young men of Delta county, who today are buried in the national cemeteries scattered around the many theaters of war. In the song 'Trees, we remember the line 'Only God can make a tree. Only God can make a human being. Only God can make a nation founded upon the cardinal principles of truth, justice, liberty, tolerance, love and with these principles compounded we have the potion that makes it possible to exemplify the principles of the Golden Rule.'"

Bungled $15 Bank Holdup Sends Four To Federal Prison

Bay City, Mich., June 1 (AP)—The bungled $15 robbery of the A. G. Mich. State bank today sent four bandits to Federal prison for a total of 46 years.

Federal Judge Frank A. Picard sentenced Floyd Barry, 28, formerly of A. G. Mich. and leader of the gang, to 15 years.

Mack C. Jackson, 23, and R. E. Smoot, 20, both Flint, Mich. Negroes, received sentences of 12 and 10 years respectively.

The fourth man, Darrell R. Fuller, 19, of Fremont, Neb., was sentenced to nine years.

They had faced maximum sentences up to 25 years under the National Bank Robbery Act and a companion charge of assault.

According to the government, Barry plotted the holdup to revenge the bank's failure to renew a mortgage on an onion shed.

The men seized the bank's cashier in his home March 5 and forced him at gunpoint to open the bank. They stacked several thousand dollars for removal. However, the door slammed shut behind them and they were forced to flee with only $15 in small change.

Author Found Dead Of Gunshot Wound On California Farm

Napa, Calif., June 1 (AP)—William Martin Camp, author and marine combat correspondent in the late war, died of a gunshot wound yesterday. Searchers found his body on a hilltop in the middle of his 200-acre ranch near Calistoga. A .45 caliber revolver lay at his side.

Coroner Charles Burchell said Camp, 38, had been worried over money. His wife organized a search after he failed to dress for Memorial day exercises at which he was to have spoken.

Camp edited the North China Marine late in the war. He was author of "Skip to My Lou," a best seller novel; "Retreat, Hell!," a novel about marine warfare in the Philippines before Corregidor's fall; and "Port of Gold," a history of San Francisco harbor.

He had worked for the Washington, D. C., Star and Times-Herald; the San Francisco Chronicle; the Pacific Press in Honolulu, and Shanghai News Services and once was a journalism instructor at the University of California.

Train Hits Washout Near Carlsbad, N. M.; One Dead, 3 Injured

Carlsbad, N. M., June 1 (AP)—A Santa Fe railway passenger train toppled into a washout near Lake Arvon last night, killing the engineer and injuring five other crew members and one passenger.

C. A. Hoyle, telegrapher at the Carlsbad Santa Fe station, said all passengers are safe. Lake Arvon is five and a half miles north of here.

The washout resulted from one of two cloudbursts near Carlsbad. The other sent a flash flood roaring down from the mountains to the southwest. Fifty families were evacuated from South Carlsbad as a precaution.

Hoyle identified the dead engineer as K. D. Shumate of Clovis, N. M. The injured are Fireman R. K. Williams of Clovis, a Pullman porter and railway mail clerk whose names were not given. Williams suffered a broken leg and was scalded. All cars except the last Pullman turned over on their sides.

Tigers Go East After Medicare Holiday Outing

Detroit, June 1 (AP)—Clinging to fourth place by a scant margin of two percentage points, the Detroit Tigers headed back into the East today, hoping for a quick change of fortune.

An even break in Monday's holiday doubleheader with the Chicago White Sox gave the Tigers an unimpressive mark of two victories in their last five starts against the softest touches in the American league—St. Louis and Chicago.

With the season's biggest Detroit throng—55,875 cash customers—looking on, the Bengals squeezed out a 5 to 4 decision over the Sox here yesterday in the opener but fell apart in the nightcap to lose 9 to 3 as Artie Houtteman absorbed his sixth straight setback.

Third Baseman George Kell, recovered from a fracture of the right wrist, came back to the Tiger lineup for the first time in three weeks, playing both games, but his presence wasn't enough to lift Detroit out of its early season doldrums.

Four runs in the first two innings sent Dizzy Trout away to a comfortable lead he nursed to his fifth victory of the season in the opener, with a bit of able relief pitching from Virgil Trucks.

Eddie Mayo's clutch double with the bases loaded produced three big Detroit markers in the second inning, enough to pin the loss on Orval Grove, first of three White Sox flingers who yielded nine hits.

Houtteman, trying for his belated first victory of the season in the second game, found the door locked again as the Sox clubbed out 15 hits and raced to a 9-0 lead before the Tigers finally got to 35-year-old Ike Pearson for their three runs in the sixth.

Pearson, who hurled two-hit shutout ball for five innings, didn't last through the next game but took credit for his first win of the year as Bill Wight came on to blank Detroit the rest of the way.

Houtteman yielded six hits in the 2 1/2 innings he lasted and his immediate successor, Al Benton, didn't fare any better in the face of Chicago's swarming spree. Hal White gave one run in the 1 1/3 innings he worked and young Billy Pearce finally stopped the Chixos splurge by giving just two hits and no runs in the last three frames.

Over 350 Attend Michigan Society Washington Dinner

Washington, June 1 (AP)—Attendance at the recent dinner of the Michigan State Society here was even better than expected. More than 350 were present. The affair marked a revival of the Society's activity.

M. A. Gorman, editor of the Flint Journal, came down to be toastmaster and added to the gaiety with his lively wit.

As Senator Homer Ferguson remarked, Gorman is a man for hecklers to beware of because he always has a fast comeback.

Other newspapermen from Michigan who attended the banquet included John Wurz, editor of the Grand Rapids Herald, and Carl Saunders, editor of the Jackson Citizen Patriot.

Michiganites furnished the entertainment, Louis Hurd, formerly of Ann Arbor and now in the insurance business here, played the piano. Mrs. Noel C. Ruddell, formerly of Ironwood, sang several songs. She is a professional singer, now appearing in a theatre here.

Harry A. McDonald, securities and exchange commissioner from Detroit, also sang and led the guests in group singing.

Shopping Proves
Strain On Nerves

New York, N. Y.—Housewives who complain that marketing makes them sick are perfectly right!

Psychologists say that a few moments of intense strain and emotion can tire you as thoroughly as hours of hard work, declares Edwina Evans Driscoll in the April Journal of Living. And every woman knows that emotional distress can come just from shopping.

Slowness and delays are the greatest shopping irritants of all, Miss Driscoll found. Grumpy merchants run a close second. Interviews with a number of women have brought forth the following suggestions for easier marketing.

First, remember that a long trip can cancel a low price and a long wait can cancel a short trip. Even in these days of inflation, any food prices convenient shopping is sometimes worth the extra cost in cash.

Plan your purchases before you leave the house. This is particularly important if you have to carry your own packages. Don't load your arms with bundles—a two-wheeled cart is a great strength-saver. If you have children, let them help.

Women spend too much time shopping to take it for granted, points out the Journal of Living article. Since marketing is such a large part of the "household profession," it is well worth a little thought on ways to make it easier.

HITS AT WAR IN MEMORIAL TALK

Rev. Kjellberg Urges Thinking Of Peace

"Let us commemorate not war, but the valiant deeds of men who we are in danger of betraying by betraying the ideals for which they fought. Let us be true to the American Dream for within it is the hope of tomorrow," urged Rev. Glenn Kjellberg, pastor of Memorial Methodist church, in a Memorial Day address at Fernwood cemetery Monday morning.

The annual service honoring dead of the various wars was arranged by August Mattson Post, American Legion. The service followed a downtown parade. Selections by the high school band, invocation by Rev. Bertil Friberg, a reading by Marie Sundblad, a salute by a firing squad and sounding of taps by Buglers Charles Green Jr. and Warren Peterson, in addition to the address, marked the occasion.

"The American dream does not belong to one group, or time, or even to Americans alone," the speaker said. "Roots go back to the dim yesterdays of history when man first began to lift his thoughts above tyranny and oppression."

"It is neither Catholic, Protestant nor Jewish, but combines the hopes and aspirations of all."

"It has no national tradition but finds its ancestry in the peoples of all the countries of the old world, particularly of Europe, Asia and Africa."

"Racially, it is basically white, but is blended with the free civilization of the red man, with the black of Africa and the yellow of Asia whose labor helped develop the west."

"Today, we are honoring members of all groups. It is significant that a black man was the first to give his life during the revolution and that a Jew, Haym Solomon, rescued the Continental Army from bankruptcy and paid the cost of victory with personal bankruptcy."

Rev. Kjellberg stated he had nothing good to say for war. "To those who advocate it I only ask, 'Just suppose you have gone to war and won, then what?'"

The answer is more death, more broken bodies, displaced civilizations, disease, new hatreds and the same problems as now but increased manifold.

"Those who have given life for the American dream cannot be honored by words or drama, but only by greater loyalty to the cause for which they died."

"In the American Dream it is basic that people can be trusted, that no autocratic group, no military clique, no governmental machine possesses more wisdom than the people."

"This country should be governed by civilians, for military governments by their very nature always have led to tyranny and war."

"It is important that we think in terms of peace rather than war, for in the idea that war is the only way is the great seed of war."

"Our nation has honorable history because we have been forced into war in the past. Let us not lose honor by taking the initiative in the future."

"Let us remember that no nation that has depended on the way of the sword has survived."

EVERGREENS BEAUTIFY CEMETERY — Use of native evergreens in the landscaping of the McMillan township cemetery in Luce county has made it one of the beauty spots of the Peninsula. Plans for the planting and hedging of the cemetery were made in 1922 by Russell W. Hild, then township clerk, and Olaf Johnson, then highway commissioner.

Native spruce has proven most successful for this work. Planting, replacing and pruning of the trees is done in the fall at annual cost of about $300. Sid Pardee has been the caretaker since 1933. The site of the cemetery on M-28A, just outside the city limits of Newberry, was chosen by the late Harry L. Harris, one of Newberry's first settlers.

Council-Manager Structure Seen Best For Municipality

By ROBERT L. WARREN

Ann Arbor, Mich.—Since municipal administration is becoming more technical and demanding, the council-manager plan is the most satisfactory organizational pattern to balance the dual problems of representative government and professional management, in the opinion of Professor Arthur W. Bromage of the political science department.

Popularly known as the city-manager plan (the technical title is the council-manager plan), this system provides for an elective council to determine policy and to appoint a manager, he said, and it further provides for a responsible manager with the power to appoint, supervise and direct department heads. For example, a "city manager" appoints the police chief, the fire chief and the superintendent of public works.

Chief Legal Instruments
Home rule charters and state optional laws, he points out, have been the chief legal instruments by which cities have obtained management. While there are many variations from state to state and city to city, he explained, the common core of the council-manager system is the combination of representative democracy (the elective council) with technical management (the appointed manager). Since the manager is responsible to the council and the city departments are responsible to the manager, he emphasized, a clear and continuous chain of authority results.

Tracing a short history of municipal government development, Professor Bromage explained that during the nineteenth century the mayor-and-council form of government was the standard system of American municipal administration.

In 1901, he continued, a commission form of government was introduced in Galveston, Texas, but by 1911 it passed the peak of its popularity because the elected, amateur councilman was not necessarily a good administrator of a city department.

The first city to operate a council-manager charter of the modern type was Sumter, South Carolina, in 1912, he said, and since that time the trend in city government has been overwhelmingly to the council-manager plan. In less than forty years the plan has spread to more than 300 cities, and already this year 30 more cities have become members of the movement, and it is increasing at the rate of 75 cities per year. At the present, approximately one out of four cities have manager government.

Home Rule In Michigan

Michigan is one of the leading city manager states in the country, he pointed out, with approximately one out of three cities operating under home-rule, manager charters. After home-rule was made available in 1909, cities had the legal opportunity to experiment with forms of government. Their experience, he added, has led them to the wide-spread acceptance of city manager government.

The roster of manager cities in Michigan includes Grand Rapids, Jackson, Kalamazoo, Pontiac and Saginaw. (Efforts to promote interest in the city manager plan for Ann Arbor have been instigated by various city organizations.)

These achievements of city management were listed by Professor Bromage: it has encouraged non-partisan government and administration and discouraged partisan and factional dominance; centered public attention on city councils and on their determination of policy; brought increased attention to sound organizational principles; introduced unity of command into the administrative mechanism; increased long-range planning and long-term capital improvement programs; encouraged public spirited citizens to participate in municipal government; and it has established the tradition of the appointed, professional manager, responsible to the council for the administration of public affairs.

Other Forms of Government
The council-manager plan of government is not the only vehicle by which citizens can obtain good government and sound technical administration, he admitted, since New York City achieved much under the leadership of Mayor La Guardia in using a strong-mayor and council form. Some cities, he

Impressive Rites Held
At School Stadium

America must remember, the Rev. Paul Sobel, pastor of the Presbyterian church told his audience at Memorial Day exercises at the high school stadium Monday morning. "Like a flower pressed in a Bible, some memories are beautiful," he said, but there are other memories, he added, that can become a hated thing, a vivid memory will help us meet emergencies when they arise. We must never forget the principles for which our nation historically stood. Peace is not a static thing, he declared. V-J day did not bring peace it can only come when the people of nations forget their prejudices and hatreds and work together in harmony. "Our leadership can be our fortune or our fate," he concluded.

Impressive ceremony marked the day's observance, the occasion being featured with a parade in which veteran organizations, boy and girl scout organizations and the city and high school bands participated.

The high school stadium where the exercises were held, was practically filled.

Following the exercises a firing squad and military escort, conducted brief exercises at the soldiers plots in both Lakeview and Fairview cemeteries.

Beautiful weather added to the impressiveness of the local exercises.

Dairy Cattle In Schoolcraft County Improve

BANK OFFICERS GET SUBPOENAS

Hiawatha Metals Case
To Be Heard June 2

Subpoenas, ordering their appearance in a special term of Schoolcraft county circuit court, to be held in Sault Ste. Marie next Wednesday morning, have been issued to officers and officials of the First National Bank of Manistique, according to records on file in the county clerk's office.

These subpoenas have been issued on order of the law firm Hudson, Coates and Kline, of Sault Ste. Marie, attorneys for the Hiawatha Metal Products company, defendants in the mortgage foreclosure proceedings instituted against that firm by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to whom a loan for $100,000, sponsored by the local bank, had been issued.

The Hiawatha company, in its counter claim, alleges that the bank's objective in aiding with the floating of the loan was irregular.

The Hiawatha company, launched about three and one-half years ago by J. F. Kluit, failed about a year after it was started and was taken over by a Brooklyn, N. Y. firm, headed by Emanuel Cohen. It was a loan made to the company while Cohen was at its helm that is the basis of the present suit.

The local law firm of Herbert & Wood is handling the RFC's end of the controversy.

Judge Herbert Runnells will preside at the session.

Mrs. Ethel Sromovsky and son, Larry, are spending a few days in Detroit visiting with relatives.

Ironwood Dethrones Menominee In Track; Houghton Cops Relays

Mauri Rose Wins 2nd Straight Indianapolis Race In Record Time

Class C Title Goes To Houghton; Eben Wins D-E; 5 Records

There were several outstanding individual performances in all classes in the annual Upper Peninsula high school track and field meet here Saturday, but as far as Class B is concerned, the championship went to the team with the Ironwood Red Devils, who dethroned the Menominee Maroons. Houghton captured Class C in a close race with Wakefield, and Eben was an easy winner in Class D-E.

Ironwood had no widespread scorer such as Mike Shatusky, Menominee, in Class B. Ron Nettell, Houghton, in Class C or Bill Frigard, Eben, in Class D-E, but it had sufficient balance to add to the U. P. track championships it won in 1932, 1940 and 1946 under venerable Jack Kraemer.

In scoring 43 points to 35 for second-place Menominee, it collected points in every event except the mile, 440 and 880, and with a first and second in the two relay events and heavy scoring in the shot put and broad jump (three places in the latter), it clinched the Class B flag the Maroons were trying so hard to keep in Menominee.

ESKIMO POINTS
Other Class B leaders were Newberry, 22, Marquette 20, Sault Ste. Marie 14-3 and Escanaba and Calumet tied with 12 points each. The Eskymos weren't in the meet championship race but their medley relay team kept their record clear for the season. Dick Pryal, Don Carlson, Jack Beaumier and Gary Abrahamson edging out Ironwood in a thrilling race. Other Escanaba points were Herb Nicholson, fourth place in the 100 and 220, Don Martineau, fourth in the 880 and Bob Ostrom, fifth in the mile.

Class C leaders were Houghton 49, Wakefield 45.7, Munising 37.4, defending champion L'Anse with 30.7, and Gladstone 10.

Class D-E leaders were Eben 60, Shatusky 55.4, Alpha 24, Hermansville 23, Rapid River and Gwinn 11, each, and defending champion Powers, Spalding 9-3-4. Going into the last event, the 820 relays, Menominee trailed, 35-38, and needed a first with Ironwood third at best to win the meet. As has been their joner all season, the Maroons miscued on a baton exchange, however, and was disqualified, Ironwood winning easily.

Borsum, Ewing Shine
Shatusky ended a great prep athletic career by scoring 16 of Menominee's 55 points. The four-point star took a first in the high jump at 5 feet 9 1/2 inches—a tenth of an inch, mind you, under the U. P. Class B record—and added seconds in the broad jump and 220 dash and a third in the century.

Two speedsters from the eastern end of the Upper Peninsula won their specialties in spectacular fashion. Alfred Borsum, chunky Newberry speed merchant, churning to firsts in the century and furlong, and Keith Ewing, Soo, gaining firsts in both hurdles events.

Ewing set one of five U. P. records established Saturday. His time of 24.55 in the 200 low hurdles bests Escanaba Jack Peterson's previous record of 24.6 set here last spring.
Ron Nettell, Houghton star, set a U. P. Class C pole vault record of 11 feet 4-5 inches, beating the old mark of L'Anse's Elmbard also set here last spring.
The three other new records were the medley times in all classes. They constituted new marks because they are new events.

In addition to winning the vault, Nettell copped both dashes in C. Another outstanding individual performer was Bill Frigard, of Eben, who amassed 15-3-4 points. Jim Tourville, Houghton, and Don Veda, Wakefield, weren't far behind with 13 points each.

ESKYMOS 2ND IN U. P.

CLASS B RELAYS

Marquette, June 1—Houghton's Gremlins were adjudged the winner of the sweetest trophy of the 21st annual Upper Peninsula high school relays held here yesterday afternoon. Class winners were Newberry, B; Houghton, C; and Eben, D-E.

The Escanaba Eskymos, who placed fourth in the 880 relay second in the mile, third in the two-mile and third in the medley relay, were second in Class B with 24 points.

Herb Nicholson, Escanaba dash man, placed third in the century. Complete team scoring follows: Class B—Newberry 30, Escanaba 24, Marquette 16, Iron River 12, Sault Ste. Marie 8, Class C—Houghton 32, Munising 30, L'Anse 22, Class D-E—Eben 60, Chassell 22, John D. Pierce of Marquette 16.

South Bend Speed Man Finishes With 119.813 Average

Indianapolis, June 1 (AP)—Fighting off challenges all the way, Mauri Rose of South Bend, Ind., yesterday won the speediest 500-mile automobile race since the Indianapolis Motor Speedway's first Memorial Day feature in 1911.

Rose crossed the finish line with an average of 119.813 miles an hour for his third speedway victory and his second in a row.

Right behind the wiry little Hoosier were his hard luck teammate, Bill Holland, Reading, Pa., at 119.147; Duke Nalon, Los Angeles, 118.034, and Ted Horn, Paterson, N. J., 117.844.

All four of those times were better than the previous record of 117.2 miles an hour, set 10 years ago by the late Floyd Roberts.

It seemed to be a record crowd as well as a record race. Although the speedway management never discloses attendance figures, the crowd appeared to be between 150,000 and 200,000.

Fought Off Challenges
Drivers had to fight off challenges from behind all the way and any one of the first four finishers could have won with a few breaks. Rose got them.

Last year Holland led most of the race and surrendered the victory to Rose.

Holland had bad luck again yesterday. He was running strongly near the end when his transmission began kicking out of gear. Duke Nalon also was coming up fast in the Novi Grooved Piston Special when he had to make a pit stop for fuel.

Nalon and Horn both made two pit stops to one apiece for Rose and Holland, and that was the difference at the finish. Horn nevertheless remained the most consistent driver who ever rode the Indianapolis bricks. It was the ninth straight race in which he had placed fourth or better, although he never has won. He drove Wilbur Shaw's old "Master", now owned by H. C. (Cotton) Henning, which apparently was unharmed by a mysterious pre-race sabotage attempt.

Mack Hellings, Burbank, Calif., won fifth money in the new Don Lee Kurtis-Kraft. The other Don Lee entry, a pre-war Mercedes, was a disappointment for the second time. Chat Miller, Glendale, Calif., had to pull the German car off the track at 108 laps with oil line trouble.

Finishers besides Hellings were Hal Cole, South Gate, Calif., sixth, in the "City of Tacoma" Kurtis-Kraft, and Lee Wallard, a first-time driver from Schectady, N. Y., seventh in the Iddings Special.

Still running at the end but flagged off were Tommy Hinnerst, Speitz, Oley, Pa., Kurtis-Kraft Special, awarded eighth money; Johnny Mauro, Denver, Colo., another newcomer in an Alfa Romeo, ninth money, and Charles Vanacker, South Bend, Ind., the South Bend Special, tenth money.

Rock, June 1—Climaxed by an 11-run spree in the top of the sixth, Cooks' defending champions in the Bay de Noc league chalked up victory No. 1 in the 1948 chase by turning back Rock, 20-7, here Sunday afternoon.

H. Carley and Bert Lund set the batting pace for Cooks, each with three hits in six times at bat. Deloria went the limit for Cooks, allowing Rock nine hits.

Escanaba Only Unbeaten Nine In Rainbow As Diorite Turns Back Gladstone; Gwinn Loses

Gwinn, June 1—Trailing by 9-4 going into the seventh inning, the Escanaba Bears suddenly came to life to tie up the ball game with a three-run rally in the seventh and two counters in the eighth, and a four-run outburst in the top of the tenth clinched matters as Gwinn lost out, 13-9, here Sunday afternoon.

The salvaged victory enabled the Bears to remain atop the Rainbow Baseball League as the only undefeated team. Gladstone lost its first game to Diorite Sunday, 2-1, making the Delta county invasion of Marquette county last weekend an even-Stephen affair.

The Bears came through with a display of extra base hitting that enabled them to pull the game out of fire. Joran and McLeod each smacked doubles, Bobby Dufour got a triple and Maychunich cracked out a homer in the big rally.

In Memoriam
In loving memory of our beloved mother and grandmother, Mrs. John E. Carlson, who passed away one year ago May 31, 1947.
Our dearest treasure passed away. Our Mother.
Long days, long nights your pain, waiting for cure but all in vain, God saw that you were suffering and the hills were hard to climb, So He closed your weary eyes and whispered, "Peace Be Thine."
What would we give her hand to clasp. To hear her voice, to see her smile, As in days that used to be; But some sweet day we'll meet again and the hills will be hard to climb.
In heaven, that happy life, Sadly missed by her children and grandchildren.
MR. AND MRS. RUDOLPH BLOCK AND ELAINE, MR. AND MRS. EWALD CARLSON AND RONALD, MR. AND MRS. RUBICK CARLSON, AGNES AND ELEANOR. 2479-153-1t

In loving memory of our dear wife and mother, Mrs. Ole Thinglum, who passed away May 31, 1942.
Nothing but memories as we journey on. Longing for a smile from a loved one gone. None knows the depth of our deep regret. But we remember when others forget.
THE OLE THINGLUM FAMILY.

We wish to express our sincere appreciation and thanks to all the kind relatives, neighbors and friends who assisted us during our recent bereavement, the death of our beloved husband and father. We are very grateful to Rev. Fr. Sebastian Maier for his consoling words and other manifestations of sympathy, to the pallbearers, to those who furnished their cars, sent floral and spiritual offerings and all those who in any way helped us to bear our sorrow. These acts of kindness can never be forgotten.

Pfc Earl Cayenberg To Go To School In Ansbach, Germany

Bremerhaven, Germany — Pfc Earl J. Cayenberg of Ensign, Mich. presently on duty in Bremerhaven Port of Embarkation in the European theatre has recently been recommended to attend the Army Signal Corps specialized training school in Ansbach, Germany.

Cayenberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Felix Cayenberg, was one of eight men at the Bremerhaven port of embarkation recommended to take a 13-week course in radio repair, maintenance, installation and operation at the Ansbach school. The training is part of the Army's program to encourage enlistees to grasp opportunities offered in service, to learn and to increase skills.

Students at the school are taught correct principles and practices in conjunction with practical application. The majority of the school time is spent in practical work in specialties.

Pfc. Cayenberg, who has been in service two years, was sent to the European Theatre in April 1947, and was assigned to the BPE last November. Since that time Cayenberg has served with the Bremerhaven military police radio section, keeping direct communication with its patrol cars.

Small Boy Takes Pup And $20, Sees Sights For Day In New York

By NATE POLOWETZKY

New York, (AP)—The view from the Empire State building and the many wonders of Coney Island are worth a trip from almost anywhere for small boys.

But 10-year-old Ronald Lee Stover had to see for himself before he'd believe it.

So with $20 in his pocket, and his pet puppy Cinders tucked safely under his arm in a cardboard box, Ronald left his Harrisburg, Pa., home Sunday after church services for the big city.

Soon the authorities began searching for him. The trail grew warm.

A Reading railroad crew member reported a boy answering his description was seen to board a Reading train Sunday. Police reported a boy carrying a puppy in a box reached Jersey City, N. J., that night and boarded a ferry to Manhattan.

Shortly after noon Monday, a boy, also carrying a little dog, was seen at the Empire State building, but left before police were notified.

Then Ronald's adventure came to an end.

A passenger on a subway train spotted a little boy Monday night, followed him as he got off at Times Square. The lad was empty-handed but fitted newspaper descriptions of Ronald. The passenger went up to him.

"Where's Cinders?"

"Oh, I gave him to a man in Coney Island."

That was all. The trip was over and soon Ronald was in the child center.

Ronald had $1.10 left. He told police he had come here to visit Coney Island and the world's largest building, that he had spent his money for ice cream, and taking in the marvels of Coney Island.

He left unanswered why he gave Cinders away.

His mother, Mrs. Iver M. Stover had told the boy he could not have a dog because they live in a small apartment.

Ronald vanished after he was given the little black pup by a neighbor.
